Now you are the body of Christ and individually members of it. And God has appointed in the church first apostles, second prophets, third teachers; then deeds of power, then gifts of healing, forms of assistance, forms of leadership, various kinds of tongues. Are all apostles? Are all prophets? Are all teachers? Do all work miracles? Do all possess gifts of healing? Do all speak in tongues? Do all interpret? But strive for the greater gifts. And I will show you a still more excellent way. —1 Corinthians 12:27–31

The various gifts we musicians possess have been apportioned as God sees fit. As church musicians, it can be a temptation to think that our gifts are of primary importance, just as the Corinthians saw glossolalia as a primary gift to them. But it is the Spirit who works through our individual lives to enrich the common good of the Church. It is our service that is a sign of the Spirit’s expression through us. It is love that is the greatest gift, as Paul goes on to demonstrate in the following chapter. That is the more excellent way. Love must inform our service as we strive for excellence in our musical ministries.

Greetings:

On behalf of the State of Colorado, it is my pleasure to welcome the Association of Anglican Musicians to their 2013 Conference in Denver, Colorado Springs and the Front Range.

We believe no place better lends itself to an event than our state. Colorado’s outdoors provide a great opportunity to enjoy the scenery and our climate is the envy of the nation. Our Rocky Mountains provide an opportunity to hike, play, and relax with beautiful accommodations across the state. We hope your stay in our state is a pleasurable one.

The Association of Anglican Musicians is an organization that encourages music and musicians serving in the worshipping communities of the Episcopal Church and the larger Anglican tradition. Its membership includes musicians, clergy, and supporters of music in Anglican liturgical life. We would like to acknowledge the work of musicians and teachers and their devotion to excellence and artistic expression and making a difference in the lives of others through their ministry.

We hope your stay in Colorado is a pleasurable experience. You have my best wishes now and in the years to come.

Sincerely,

John W. Hickenlooper
Governor

Greetings:

It is indeed a pleasure to welcome you to the “Mile High City”. We are excited that you chose Denver to host this very important conference.

The next five days will give you an opportunity to come together to share information, discover new talent, and ignite a new spirit of worship. The music of the church is vital to the full and meaningful worship experience of the people. Psalms 100: 1 instructs us to “Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands”. In today’s society where so many things compete for people’s time and commitment, the church must continue to spread the hope that is in Christ. Music is the perfect conduit to share that message.

During your time here we hope you will take the time to explore the many amenities the city has to offer. Denver’s downtown is one of the nation’s most walkable cities and boasts a variety of attractions, including the nation’s second largest performing arts complex, three art museums, three sports stadiums, a U.S. Mint, more than 300 restaurants, and one of the largest city park system in the country.

Also, please take advantage of the various transportation options we offer. We’ve made getting around the Mile High City easy, giving you your choice of 500 rental bikes available at 30 downtown stations, a free hybrid shuttle along the 16th Street pedestrian mall, and FasTracks, the nation’s largest light rail initiative with 120 miles of track.

Again, welcome to Denver, have an informative and enjoyable time and please plan to return soon.

Sincerely,

Michael B. Hancock
Mayor

Dear Friends in Christ,

As you look forward to the Annual Conference of the Association of Anglican Musicians in the Diocese of Colorado on June 30 - July 4, 2013, it is a gift and a blessing to be able to welcome you to our beautiful state.

The proposed schedule of activities for the conference has you visiting many parts of Colorado, from the soaring arches of Saint John’s Cathedral in Denver, to the classical architecture of Grace and Saint Stephen’s Church in Colorado Springs. You will also be visiting numerous other churches and unique places of worship including the Cadet Chapel at the United States Air Force Academy, culminating in a festive 4th of July schedule!

The music of our common worship is a wonderful gift that glorifies God and gives praise to the risen Christ with every voice and note lifted in praise. I pray that your week together will be richly blessed—a time of adventure, joy and deep meaning—as you explore our musical past, present and future.

God’s peace and blessing be with you.

Yours faithfully,

The Rt. Rev. Robert J. O’Neill
Bishop

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

On behalf of the Chapter, Vestry, and People of Saint John’s Cathedral, Denver, it is my pleasure to welcome you to the 2013 National Conference of the Association of Anglican Musicians. Our congregation was founded in 1860, and in 2010 we celebrated our sesquicentenary. The following year, we celebrated the centenary of the present cathedral church.

Saint John’s Cathedral has long been a dynamic community in the Western States, hosting General Conventions in 1931, 1979, and 2000. The 1979 convention was historic for the ratification of the 1979 Book of Common Prayer.

Saint John’s Cathedral has also played a major role in the music of the Church over the year. In our rich musical history here, we are proud that Canon Charles Winfred Douglas contributed to the founding of the Evergreen Music Conferences that continued for nearly a century, thereby assisting in the education of several generations of church musicians. Canon Douglas’s former home is now the Hiwan Homestead Museum in Evergreen.

We are delighted that you are here to meet at this great cathedral and in our wonderful city, and I pray God’s blessing on your conference.

The Very Reverend Peter Eaton, Dean

Candidates for Office
Director-at-Large

Brett Patterson: I am honored to stand for the position of director-at-large on the AAM Board. I have been active in AAM since becoming a member in 2008. I earned a bachelor’s degree in organ performance from Pacific Lutheran University, and a master’s degree in organ performance and sacred music from the University of Texas at Austin, where I was a student of Drs. Gerre and Judith Hancock. I was head chorister at the Cathedral of the Madeleine in Salt Lake City and a paid singer at St. Mary’s Episcopal Church in Lakewood, Washington. I served as organist-choirmaster at Grace Episcopal Church in Georgetown, Texas, and I have been director of music and organist at Holy Family Roman Catholic Church in Ogden, Utah, since 2009.

As a member of the Board I will strive to further the high level of support that AAM accords its members. As a younger member of the Association, I believe that excellence in liturgy and music is critical. I have worked in a smaller church with a limited budget and in a larger church with more resources, and I understand the challenges of both. I have benefited greatly from the experience and support of AAM colleagues and I will work hard to further the ideals of this unique organization.

Greetings! My name is Linda Morgan Stowe and I am delighted to be nominated for the director-at-large position on the AAM board. I am chair of Fine Arts and organist/choir director at Saint James School in Maryland, an Episcopal boarding school with daily chapel services. Other schools I have worked at include St. Marks, Dallas, and St. Paul’s, New Hampshire.

I have also worked in small parishes in Madison, Wisconsin, with limited resources and fledgling choirs. Being in “Luther-land,” I was active in ALCM and chaired a regional convention in Madison. I also was an instructor for the Leadership for Parish Musicians certification program.

I have been a member of AAM since 1995, but found myself always wishing I could be more involved. That opportunity jumped in my lap when I was in the Philadelphia area last year and was able to serve on the Executive Committee for last summer’s conference. It was a joy to work with my wonderful colleagues and, I can honestly say, a pleasure to coordinate the meals for the week. Having just been through this experience, I am pleased to be working with a small committee on a newly revised conference customary, which we hope will help make the task of planning a conference seem less daunting.
Schedule

- Wear your badge for all events; it is sometimes your entrance ticket to a venue or concert
- Any changes to the schedule will be given in daily announcements
- Please be prompt for coach departure times
- All breakfasts are on your own
- You are on Mountain Daylight Time during the entire conference
- Remember to drink plenty of water throughout the week

Panel Discussion
Music, Liturgy, and Church Growth in the Culture of the 21st Century
Monday, July 1, 3:00 P.M.
Sheraton Hotel, Tower Building
Second Level, Grand Ballroom I

Many aspects of twenty-first-century American culture work against the church. Sunday mornings, which fifty or sixty years ago were assumed to be worship time, are now taken up by sporting events, family brunch, and other activities. Mass media, video games, and other diversions diminish enthusiasm for corporate gatherings. Yet some parishes and cathedrals are growing and thriving, even under these adverse circumstances. The panelists will describe how music and liturgy are working positively and effectively in their own situations, or in others with which they are familiar, to foster genuine church growth and enthusiasm. They may also respond to one another’s comments. Panelists are Diane Caruso, Mark Howe, Peggy Haas Howell, Robert Lehman, and Victor Hill, moderator.

Anthem Reading Session
Thursday, July 4, 9:00 A.M.
Sheraton Hotel, Tower Building
Second Level, Grand Ballroom I

A fifty-minute sing-through of selected newly-published anthems, from easy to challenging, with a focus on AAM composers, led by Gerald Holbrook, organist at First United Methodist Church in Boulder and chorus master of Opera Fort Collins.

Workshop I
Engaging Technology: A Survey of Tools and Techniques that Help Church Musicians Work Smarter
Thursday, July 4, 10:00 A.M. and 11:15 A.M.
Sheraton Hotel, Tower Building
Second Level, Grand Ballroom I

Is there anything more frustrating than troubleshooting a computer or network problem, or trying to navigate software or a webpage that doesn’t make intuitive sense to you? Sorry—this workshop will NOT help alleviate these frustrations, but it will reassure you that technology, even with all its challenges, can make our extra-musical work as church musicians more efficient and more effective. The less time and energy that our administrative chores take, the more we can direct those precious resources toward making music. With something for both novice and advanced users, this survey will inspire and help you to find the right tool for the job and to learn how to use technology wisely. Solutions in a variety of task-areas will be discussed, including “best practices” for common computer tasks; choral library cataloging; service planning, histories, and simplifying the addition of musical information to printed bulletins; the use of the Internet and social media for promoting programs, fostering community, and rallying volunteers; document sharing and collaboration; and more. Moderated by Brian Driscoll.

Workshop II
Alternative Worship by Mishkhah
Thursday, July 4, 10:00 A.M. and 11:15 A.M.
Sheraton Hotel, Tower Building
Second Level, Windows Meeting Room

Amidst a sea of alternative and emerging worship styles in the Church, Mishkhah is working to help those who have lost their faith, or are finding faith for the first time, to experience the beauty and mystery of the tradition, sacraments, and architecture of Anglicanism.

Join Kate Eaton, founder of Mishkhah, for a lively and interactive workshop where she will share her vision for, and experience of, bringing a new group of people into the Church. She has created more than 300 liturgies and prayer services across the US and abroad. She has recorded a CD, ARISE, New Music for Worship, with hymn and prayer arrangements and original compositions. This promises to be a refreshing presentation with a new look into ways in which such worship can complement our classical liturgies. Visit www.mishkhah.com to learn more about the work of Mishkhah.

Workshop III
Bringing Your Choir to England
Thursday, July 4, 10:00 A.M. and 11:15 A.M.
Sheraton Hotel, Tower Building
Second Level, Tower Room D

In his workshop about American Choir residencies in the UK, Simon Baldwin will put forth the details of conceiving, planning, and executing such an educational and rewarding venture. He will dispel myths and fire imaginations for those who have never taken a choir to Great Britain. Simon will define a residency, elucidate the aspects of deciding where to sing, and encourage those who feel that their choirs are not good enough for such a venture. When should we start planning? How much work do I have to do? Where do we start? Baldwin has a plan and you will want to hear it.
Maps and Directions
Sheraton Denver Downtown Hotel

The Sheraton Denver Downtown Hotel is located in two buildings: the Plaza and the Tower. Court Place runs between the two buildings and is where you’ll board coaches (outside Katie Mullen’s) for all excursions. The lobby of the Tower building is at street level and opens onto Court Place. The main hotel reception is in the Plaza building and opens onto both Court Place and the 16th Street pedestrian mall, which is serviced by a free east-west shuttle bus. You may be housed in either of the two buildings.

Conference Registration and events are in the South Convention Lobby, where the Grand Ballroom can be found and in the North Convention Lobby, where there are a number of meeting rooms. To get to the 2nd level, Tower Building, if your room is in the Tower Building, take one of any number of elevators to the 2nd level. If your room is in the Plaza Building, take one of the elevators to the 2nd floor and walk across the Sky Bridge to the Tower Building. From the Tower Building lobby you can take an escalator, elevators or walk up the stairs to the 2nd level.

You can also get between the two buildings by way of the Plaza Building Concourse. There will be local AAM Volunteers in the hotel to answer any questions and help you find your way.

There are a number of restaurants, bars, and a coffee house situated in the hotel and 16th Street and surrounds provide you with a wealth of dining choices.
Sheraton Denver Downtown Hotel to Saint John’s Cathedral Sunday, Monday, Thursday

From the Plaza Building main doors (adjacent to the Registration Desk with the large revolving door), turn right as you exit the building and walk to the sidewalk at the corner of the building on Court Place. Turn right and head southwest on Court Place toward 15th Street (1 block).

Turn left onto 15th Street, staying on the same side of the street as the hotel and the 7 Eleven, and walk southeast on 15th Street to the intersection of Colfax and Broadway (2 ½ blocks, approx. 479 ft.).

Landmark: On your left at the intersection of Colfax and Broadway is the Pioneer Monument; a fountain topped by a bronze equestrian figure of Kit Carson. This intersection is considered the “center of Denver.” Diagonal across the intersection is the Colorado State Capitol Building. The Capitol Dome is undergoing an extensive renovation, including gold leaf rolled from gold mined right here in Colorado. Learn more at shareinthecarecolorado.org.

Cross over Broadway, then Colfax (or Colfax, then Broadway) toward the Capitol Building and the Capitol Green (the southeast corner). Bearing right, walk along Broadway (south), or diagonally across the Capitol Green (southeast), toward 14th Avenue (1 block).

At 14th Avenue turn left. Walk east along 14th Avenue, passing the Capitol Building on your left, and continue on toward Washington Street (four blocks after passing the Capitol). Saint John’s Cathedral will be on the right (south) side of 14th Avenue, at the corner of 14th Avenue and Washington Street, on the southeast corner. Enter through the Narthex doors, at the top of the stairs on the 14th Avenue side. Accessible ramps are located at both sides of the stairs.
Sheraton Denver Downtown Hotel to St. Andrew’s Church
Monday–Thursday

From the Plaza Building main doors (adjacent to the Registration Desk with the large revolving door), turn left as you exit the building and walk around the circle drive to Court Place. Turn left (northeast) on Court Place and walk a few steps toward 16th Street (the Pedestrian Mall).

From the Tower Building Court Place doors turn right and walk northeast along Court Place toward 16th Street.

Cross 16th Street (the Pedestrian Mall). Use caution and watch for the Mall Shuttle Buses before crossing; the buses are very quiet! Continue straight (northeast) along Court Place (Noodles and the Delectable Egg will be on your left). Walk one block to the intersection of Broadway and 17th Avenue. Cross Broadway to the east to continue on 17th Street. Walk east on 17th Street two blocks to Sherman Street. Turn left onto Sherman Street. Walk north along Sherman Street three blocks (0.1 mi.) to East 20th Avenue. Cross 20th Ave. to the north side of the street. Turn left on East 20th Avenue and walk a short distance (36 ft.). Bear slight right at the Bella Vista Mexican restaurant (on the right) and proceed a short distance (northwest) to Glenarm Place. St. Andrew’s will be on the right on the northwest side of Glenarm Place. Enter through the Narthex doors on the Glenarm Place side.
Sheraton Denver Downtown Hotel to St. Paul Lutheran Church
Monday

From the Plaza Building main doors (adjacent to the Registration Desk with the large revolving door), turn left as you exit the building and walk around the circle drive to Court Place. Turn left (northeast) on Court Place and walk a few steps toward 16th Street (the Pedestrian Mall).

From the Tower Building Court Place doors turn right and walk northeast along Court Place toward 16th Street.

Turn right onto 16th Street, cross Court Place (Katie Mullen’s Irish Pub will be on your right), and continue toward Broadway (1 ½ blocks, 0.1 mi.). At Broadway, cross over to the east side of the street and make a sharp left on Broadway, headed north. Walk north along Broadway a short distance (79 ft.) to 16th Avenue. Turn right (east) on 16th Avenue and continue three blocks (0.2 mi.) along 16th Avenue to Grant Street. Saint Paul Lutheran Church will be on your left on the northeast corner of 16th Avenue and Grant Street. Enter through the Narthex doors, at the top of the stairs on the Grant Street side. An accessible ramp is located a few steps to the east on the 16th Avenue side.
University of Denver, Ritchie Center
Wednesday

Lunch today is in the Gold Club and Gottesfeld Room, located on the 4th level of the Ritchie Center, on the University of Denver (DU) Campus. The Ritchie Center is primarily a sports event center, so don’t be surprised by all the sporting references. Your coach will drive into the circular drive and drop you off at the main (north) entrance of the Ritchie Center. As you disembark you will hear the Carillon playing faintly in the distance. If you would like to hear the Carillon more clearly, follow the path around the building to your right, which takes you to the west side of the Ritchie Center and the Williams Tower Carillon. Here, you can either stand and listen, or make your way to the stadium seating where you can rest and enjoy the sounds of the Carillon.

For those of you who would rather go straight up to the lunch room, you can climb the steps to the 2nd level of the Ritchie Center, walk along the concourse, past the “Hall of Fame,” turn right at the Hamilton Gymnasium and head towards the glass doors, to the west elevators, which you’ll find on the right, through the arch labeled DU Gold Club. Elevators 3A & 3B will take you to the 4th level. (Please note: the 4th level is only accessible by these elevators.) When you get off the elevator there is a small reception area. Once through the reception area you will find the Gold Club, to your left, and the Gottesfeld Room, to your right. Both areas are set up for lunch. Pick up your box lunch and drinks and find seating at one of the tables. Off the Gottesfeld Room there is a small outside patio, where you can also hear the Carillon, but it may be rather loud as you are immediately below the bell tower! Restrooms are located through the Gold Club, either far left, past the hockey display, or far right, past the basketball display.

For those of you who find the steps to the 2nd level a little daunting, there is a 1st level entrance, with a ramp, to the left of the steps. Once inside the building, take the north entrance elevators to the 2nd level. Get off the elevators, turn diagonally right, walk along the concourse past the “Hall of Fame” and follow the directions given in the paragraph above.

For those of you who linger by the Williams Tower to hear the Carillon, when you are ready, you can climb the steps by the Tower to the 2nd level. Go through the glass doors and look to your left. You will see an arch with the heading DU Gold Room—elevators 3A & 3B will take you to the 4th level.

Unfortunately, access to the 1st level on the west side is locked for security reasons, so if you don’t want to climb the steps, make your way back to the north entrance and enter on level 1 and follow the directions given in the third paragraph above. There will be volunteers to help you find your way.

After lunch, please make your way back to the 1st level, north entrance, where your coach will be waiting in the circular drive to take you to the Lamont School of Music, just a few blocks away on the DU Campus.

A Still More Excellent Way

AAM 2013 Denver
Denver Museum of Nature and Science
Thursday Closing Banquet

The main entrance to the Denver Museum of Nature and Science (DMNS) is located on the north side of the building. Coaches will drop you slightly to the west of the main entrance. When you alight the coach, walk to the right and follow the path around to the west side of the building. Enjoy the fountain, rose gardens and view of the mountains as you stroll to the west entrance.

On entering the DMNS by the west entrance, you will find a water station beyond which are two elevators to transport you to the Sky Terrace, where you’ll be treated to panoramic views to the west of the mountains while enjoying pre-dinner drinks. You will receive two tickets for two complimentary drinks from the cash bar which can be used either on the Sky Terrace or in the South Atrium.

For dinner, take the elevator down to the entry level, and journey through the Space Odyssey to the South Atrium for the Closing Banquet. The Gems and Minerals Exhibit is also open for you to explore, but no food or drink are allowed inside.

After dinner, you may take your coffee or drink up to the Sky Terrace, where, for your further enjoyment, there will be a cash bar (unused drink tickets can still be used here) and, weather permitting, views of the downtown Denver skyline, sunset over the mountains, and, after dark, ad hoc July 4th firework displays across the Front Range.

There is an early or later departure for the Sheraton Hotel. At the appropriate time, make your way down to the ground level, through the west doors and round to the right, where your coach will be waiting in the same place they dropped you off earlier in the evening—at the north, main entrance.
Choral Evensong

Sunday, June 30, 5:00 P.M.
Saint John’s Episcopal Cathedral, Denver

The Very Rev. Peter Eaton, Dean, Officiant
Gregory A. Robbins, Honorary Canon Theologian of Saint John’s Cathedral, Reader
The Choir of Saint John’s Cathedral
Stephen Tappe, Choir Director
Richard Robertson, Voluntary Organist
Lyn Loewi, Service Organist

This service of Evening Prayer commemorates the publication of the 1662 Book of Common Prayer. Normal calculation would suggest we are a year late. However, had AAM members celebrated the 150th anniversary last summer, it would have been a tad early. The Act of Uniformity did not order exclusive use of the 1662 BCP until after St. Bartholomew’s Day, August 24, 1662. This afternoon, we have respected the language and rubrics of the 1662 edition insofar as possible. The musical settings are decidedly not 17th-century; they are modern foils that set off the singular qualities and beauty of the 1662’s cadences. Worshipers in 1662 would have had a similarly jarring experience. Hearing the words of the Epistles and Gospels read from the Authorized Version of 1611 (the King James Bible) would have struck them as equally “new” given the conservative nature of the 1662 BCP, which retained more of the 1559 book than many had expected.

Voluntary Chaconne in D Minor Johann Sebastian Bach (1685–1750)

[As the procession enters, the People stand.]

Officiant

If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us; but if we confess our sins, God is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. 1 St. John i. 8, 9.

Dearly beloved brethren, the Scripture moveth us, in sundry places, to acknowledge and confess our manifold sins and wickedness; and that we should not dissemble nor cloak them before the face of Almighty God our heavenly Father; but confess them with an humble, lowly, penitent, and obedient heart; to the end that we may obtain forgiveness of the same, by his infinite goodness and mercy. And although we ought, at all times, humbly to acknowledge our sins before God; yet ought we chiefly so to do, when we assemble and meet together to render thanks for the great benefits that we have received at his hands, to set forth his most worthy praise, to hear his most holy Word, and to ask those things which are requisite and necessary, as well for the body as the soul. Wherefore I pray and beseech you, as many as are here present, to accompany me with a pure heart, and humble voice, unto the throne of the heavenly grace, saying after me;
A general Confession to be said of the whole Congregation after the Minister, all kneeling.

Almighty and most merciful Father; We have erred, and strayed from thy ways like lost sheep. We have followed too much the devices and desires of our own hearts. We have offended against thy holy laws. We have left undone those things which we ought to have done; And we have done those things which we ought not to have done; And there is no health in us. But thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us, miserable offenders. Spare thou them, O God, who confess their faults. Restore thou them that are penitent; According to thy promises declared unto mankind in Christ Jesu our Lord. And grant, O most merciful Father, for his sake; That we may hereafter live a godly, righteous, and sober life, To the glory of thy holy Name. Amen.

The Absolution or Remission of sins to be pronounced by the Priest alone, standing: the people still kneeling.

Almighty God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who desireth not the death of a sinner, but rather that he may turn from his wickedness, and live; and hath given power, and commandment, to his Ministers, to declare and pronounce to his people, being penitent, the Absolution and Remission of their sins: He pardoneth and absolveth all them that truly repent, and unfeignedly believe his holy Gospel. Wherefore let us beseech him to grant us true repentance, and his Holy Spirit, that those things may please him, which we do at this present; and that the rest of our life hereafter may be pure, and holy; so that at the last we may come to his eternal joy; through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Then the Minister shall kneel, and say the Lord’s Prayer: the people also kneeling, and repeating it with him.

Our Father, which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy Name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, As it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, As we forgive them that trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, But deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, The power, and the glory, For ever and ever. Amen.

Preces

Here, all standing up, the Priest shall say,
   O Lord, open thou our lips.
   Answer And our mouth shall show forth thy praise.

Priest   O God, make speed to save us.
   Answer O Lord, make haste to help us.

Priest   Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost;
   Answer As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

Priest   Praise ye the Lord.
   Answer The Lord’s Name be praised.

Then shall be said or sung the Psalms in order as they be appointed.
[The people sit for the psalms and stand for the concluding Gloria Patri.]
Psalm 147

Laudate Dominum

Charles Villiers Stanford (1852–1924)

1 O praise the Lord, for it is a good thing to sing praises unto our God:
yea, a joyful and pleasant thing it is to be thankful.

2 The Lord doth build up Jerusalem:
and gather together the out-casts of Israel.

3 He healeth those that are broken in heart:
and giveth medicine to heal their sickness.

4 He telleth the number of the stars:
and calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, and great is his power:
yea, and his wisdom is infinite.

6 The Lord setteth up the meek:
and bringeth the ungodly down to the ground.

7 O sing unto the Lord with thanksgiving:
sing praises upon the harp unto our God;

8 Who covereth the heaven with clouds, and prepareth rain for the earth:
and maketh the grass to grow upon the mountains, and herb for the use of men;

9 Who giveth fodder unto the cattle:
and feedeth the young ravens that call upon him.

10 He hath no pleasure in the strength of an horse:
neither delighteth he in any man’s legs.

11 But the Lord’s delight is in them that fear him:
and put their trust in his mercy.

12 Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem: praise thy God, O Sion.

13 For he hath made fast the bars of thy gates:
and hath blessed thy children within thee.

14 He maketh peace in thy borders:
and filleth thee with the flour of wheat.

15 He sendeth forth his commandment upon earth:
and his word runneth very swiftly.

16 He giveth snow like wool:
and scattereth the hoar-frost like ashes.

17 He casteth forth his ice like morsels:
who is able to abide his frost?

18 He sendeth out his word, and melteth them:
he bloweth with his wind, and the waters flow.

19 He sheweth his word unto Jacob:
his statutes and ordinances unto Israel.

20 He hath not dealt so with any nation:
neither have the heathen knowledge of his laws.

Psalm 148

Laudate Dominum

David Willcocks (b. 1919)

1 O praise the Lord of heaven:
praise him in the height.

2 Praise him, all ye angels of his:
praise him, all his host.

3 Praise him, sun and moon:
praise him, all ye stars and light.
4 Praise him, all ye heavens:
    and ye waters that are above the heavens.
5 Let them praise the Name of the Lord:
    for he spake the word, and they were made; he commanded, and they were created.
6 He hath made them fast for ever and ever:
    he hath given them a law which shall not be broken.
7 Praise the Lord upon earth:
    ye dragons, and all deeps;
8 Fire and hail, snow and vapours:
    wind and storm, fulfilling his word;
9 Mountains and all hills:
    fruitful trees and all cedars;
10 Beasts and all cattle:
    worms and feathered fowls;
11 Kings of the earth and all people:
    princes and all judges of the world;
12 Young men and maidens, old men and children, praise the Name of the Lord:
    for his Name only is excellent, and his praise above heaven and earth.
13 He shall exalt the horn of his people; all his saints shall praise him:
    even the children of Israel, even the people that serveth him.

Psalm 149

Cantate Domino

Charles Villiers Stanford

1 O sing unto the Lord a new song:
   let the congregation of saints praise him.
2 Let Israel rejoice in him that made him:
   and let the children of Sion be joyful in their King.
3 Let them praise his Name in the dance:
   let them sing praises unto him with tabret and harp.
4 For the Lord hath pleasure in his people:
   and helpeth the meek-hearted.
5 Let the saints be joyful with glory:
   let them rejoice in their beds.
6 Let the praises of God be in their mouth:
   and a two-edged sword in their hands;
7 To be avenged of the heathen:
   and to rebuke the people;
8 To bind their kings in chains:
   and their nobles with links of iron.
9 That they may be avenged of them, as it is written:
   Such honour have all his saints.

Laudate Dominum

Charles Villiers Stanford

1 O praise God in his sanctuary:
   praise him in the firmament of his power.
2 Praise him in his noble acts:
   praise him according to his excellent greatness.
3 Praise him in the sound of the trumpet:
   praise him upon the lute and harp.
4 Praise him in the cymbals and dances:
   praise him upon the strings and pipe.
5 Praise him upon the well-tuned cymbals:
   praise him upon the loud cymbals.
6 Let every thing that hath breath:
   praise the Lord.
   Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost;
   As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

Then a Lesson of the Old Testament, as is appointed. And after that Magnificat (or the Song of the blessed Virgin Mary) in English, as followeth.

[The People may sit for the Canticles and stand for each Gloria Patri.]

First Lesson 1 Samuel 10:1–16

Then Samuel took a vial of oil, and poured it upon Saul’s head, and kissed him, and said, Is it not because the Lord hath anointed thee to be captain over his inheritance? When thou art departed from me to day, then thou shalt find two men by Rachel’s sepulchre in the border of Benjamin at Zelzah; and they will say unto thee, The asses which thou wentest to seek are found: and, lo, thy father hath left the care of the asses, and sorroweth for you, saying, What shall I do for my son? Then shalt thou go on forward from thence, and thou shalt come to the plain of Tabor, and there shall meet thee three men going up to God to Bethel, one carrying three kids, and another carrying three loaves of bread, and another carrying a bottle of wine: And they will salute thee, and give thee two loaves of bread; which thou shalt receive of their hands. After that thou shalt come to the hill of God, where is the garrison of the Philistines: and it shall come to pass, when thou art come thither to the city, that thou shalt meet a company of prophets coming down from the high place with a psaltery, and a tabret, and a pipe, and a harp, before them; and they shall prophesy: And the Spirit of the Lord will come upon thee, and thou shalt prophesy with them, and shalt be turned into another man. And let it be, when these signs are come unto thee, that thou do as occasion serve thee; for God is with thee. And thou shalt go down before me to Gilgal; and, behold, I will come down unto thee, to offer burnt offerings, and to sacrifice sacrifices of peace offerings: seven days shalt thou tarry, till I come to thee, and shew thee what thou shalt do. And it was so, that when he had turned his back to go from Samuel, God gave him another heart: and all those signs came to pass that day. And when they came thither to the hill, behold, a company of prophets met him; and the Spirit of God came upon him, and he prophesied among them. And it came to pass, when all that knew him beforetime saw that, behold, he prophesied among the prophets, then the people said one to another, What is this that is come unto the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets? And one of the same place answered and said, But who is their father? Therefore it became a proverb, Is Saul also among the prophets? And when they came thither to the hill, behold, a company of prophets met him; and the Spirit of God came upon him, and he prophesied among them. And it came to pass, when all that knew him beforetime saw that, behold, he prophesied among the prophets, then the people said one to another, What is this that is come unto the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets? And one of the same place answered and said, But who is their father? Therefore it became a proverb, Is Saul also among the prophets? And when he had made an end of prophesying, he came to the high place. And Saul’s uncle said unto him and to his servant, Whither went ye? And he said, To seek the asses: and when we saw that they were no where, we came to Samuel. And Saul’s uncle said, Tell me, I pray thee, what Samuel said unto you. And Saul said unto his uncle, He told us plainly that the asses were found. But of the matter of the kingdom, whereof Samuel spake, he told him not.
Magnificat

St. Luke 1

Herbert Howells (1892–1983)

My soul doth magnify the Lord:
              and my spirit hath rejoiced in God my Saviour.
For he hath regarded:
              the lowliness of his handmaiden.
For behold, from henceforth:
              all generations shall call me blessed.
For he that is mighty hath magnified me:
              and holy is his Name.
And his mercy is on them that fear him:
              throughout all generations.
He hath showed strength with his arm:
              he hath scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.
He hath put down the mighty from their seat:
              and hath exalted the humble and meek.
He hath filled the hungry with good things:
              and the rich he hath sent empty away.
He remembering his mercy hath holpen his servant Israel:
              as he promised to our forefathers, Abraham and his seed, for ever.
Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost;
              as it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

Then a Lesson of the New Testament, as it is appointed. And after that Nunc dimittis (or the Song of Simeon) in English, as followeth.

Second Lesson

Matthew 21:23–32

When Jesus was come into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came unto him as he was teaching, and said, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority? And Jesus answered and said unto them, I also will ask you one thing, which if ye tell me, I in like wise will tell you by what authority I do these things. The baptism of John, whence was it? from heaven, or of men? And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say unto us, Why did ye not then believe him? But if we shall say, Of men; we fear the people; for all hold John as a prophet. And they answered Jesus, and said, We cannot tell. And he said unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things. But what think ye? A certain man had two sons; and he came to the first, and said, Son, go work to day in my vineyard. He answered and said, I will not: but afterward he repented, and went. And he came to the second, and said likewise. And he answered and said, I go, sir: and went not. Whether of them twain did the will of his father? They say unto him, The first. Jesus saith unto them, Verily I say unto you, That the publicans and the harlots go into the kingdom of God before you. For John came unto you in the way of righteousness, and ye believed him not: but the publicans and the harlots believed him: and ye, when ye had seen it, repented not afterward, that ye might believe him.
Nunc dimittis

St. Luke 2

Herbert Howells

Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace:
according to thy word.
For mine eyes have seen:
thy salvation,
Which thou hast prepared:
before the face of all people;
To be a light to lighten the Gentiles:
and to be the glory of thy people Israel.
Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost;
As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

Then shall be sung or said the Apostles’ Creed, by the Minister and the people standing.

I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth:
And in Jesus Christ his only Son our Lord: Who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, Born of the Virgin Mary: Suffered under Pontius Pilate, Was crucified, dead, and buried: He descended into hell; The third day he rose again from the dead: He ascended into heaven, And sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty: From thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead.

And after that, these Prayers following, all devoutly kneeling: the Minister first pronouncing with a loud voice,

The Lord be with you.

Answer And with thy spirit.

Minister Let us pray.

Answer Lord, have mercy upon us.

Christ, have mercy upon us.

Lord, have mercy upon us.

Then the Minister, Clerks, and people shall say the Lord’s Prayer with a loud voice.

Our Father, which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy Name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, As it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, As we forgive them that trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, But deliver us from evil. Amen.
Then the Priest standing up shall say,

    O Lord, shew thy mercy upon us.

Answer And grant us thy salvation.

Priest O Lord, save the State.

Answer And mercifully hear us when we call upon thee.

Priest Endue thy Ministers with righteousness.

Answer And make thy chosen people joyful.

Priest O Lord, save thy people.

Answer And bless thine inheritance.

Priest Give peace in our time, O Lord.

Answer Because there is none other that fighteth for us, but only thou, O God.

Priest O God, make clean our hearts within us.

Answer And take not thy Holy Spirit from us.

Then shall follow three Collects; the first of the day; The second for Peace; The third for Aid against all Perils, as hereafter followeth: which two last Collects shall be daily said at Evening Prayer without alteration.

Grant, O Lord, we beseech thee, that the course of this world may be so peaceably ordered by thy governance, that thy Church may joyfully serve thee in all godly quietness; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The Second Collect at Evening Prayer.

O God, from whom all holy desires, all good counsels, and all just works do proceed; Give unto thy servants that peace which the world cannot give; that both our hearts may be set to obey thy commandments, and also that by thee, we, being defended from the fear of our enemies, may pass our time in rest and quietness; through the merits of Jesus Christ our Saviour. Amen.

The Third Collect, for Aid against all Perils.

Lighten our darkness, we beseech thee, O Lord; and by thy great mercy defend us from all perils and dangers of this night; for the love of thy only Son, our Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen.

In Quires and Places where they sing, here followeth the Anthem.

Anthem Blest Pair of Sirens

Blest pair of Sirens, pledges of Heav’ns joy,
Sphearn-born harmonious Sisters, Voice, and Vers,
Wed your divine sounds, and mixt power employ
Dead things with inbreath’d sense able to pierce,
And to our high-rais’d phantasie present
That undisturbed Song of pure concent,
Ay sung before the saphire-colour’d throne
To him that sits theron
With Saintly shout, and solemn Jubily,
Where the bright Seraphim in burning row
Their loud up-lifted Angel trumpets blow,
And the Cherubick host in thousand quires
Touch their immortal Harps of golden wires,
With those just Spirits that wear victorious Palms, Hymns devout and holy Psalms
Singing everlasting;
That we on Earth with undiscovering voice
May rightly answer that melodious noise;
As once we did, till disproportion’d sin
Jarr’d against natures chime, and with harsh din Broke the fair musick that all creatures made
To their great Lord, whose love their motion sway’d
In perfect Diapason, whilst they stood
In first obedience, and their state of good.
O may we soon again renew that Song,
And keep in tune with Heav’n, till God ere long
To his celestial consort us unite,
To live with him, and sing in endles morn of light.

—“At a Solemn Music”
John Milton (1608–1674)

[The People kneel. Here would follow prayers for the Monarch and Royal Family, omitted. We substitute prayers from the order of Evening Prayer proposed in 1786 for the American revision of the 1662 Book of Common Prayer.]

A Prayer for the Congress.

Most gracious God, we humbly beseech thee, as for these United States in general, so especially for their Delegates in Congress: that thou wouldest be pleased to direct and prosper all their consultations to the advancement of thy Glory, the good of thy Church, the safety, honour, and welfare of thy people; that all things may be so ordered and settled by their endeavours, upon the best and surest foundations, that peace and happiness; truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us for all generations. These and all other necessaries for them, for us, and thy whole Church, we humbly beg in the Name and mediation of Jesus Christ our most blessed Lord and Saviour. Amen.

A Prayer for our Civil Rulers.

O Lord our heavenly Father, the high and mighty Ruler of the Universe, who dost from thy throne behold all the dwellers, upon earth; most heartily we beseech thee with thy favour to behold all in authority, legislative, judicial and executive, in these United States; and so replenish them with the grace of thy Holy Spirit, that they may always incline to thy will, and walk in thy way: Endue them plenteously with heavenly gifts; grant them in health and wealth long to live; and finally, after this life, to attain everlasting joy and felicity, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

A Prayer of St. Chrysostom

Almighty God, who hast given us grace at this time with one accord to make our common supplications unto thee; and dost promise, that when two or three are gathered together in thy Name thou wilt grant their requests; Fulfill now, O Lord, the desires and petitions of thy servants, as may be most expedient for them; granting us in this world knowledge of thy truth, and in the world to come life everlasting. Amen.

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Ghost, be with us all evermore. Amen. 2 Corinthians xiii. xiii, Here endeth the Order of Evening Prayer throughout the Year.

Hymn

Blessed be the God of Israel

1 Blessed be the God of Israel, who comes to set us free;
2 He from the house of David a child of grace has given;
3 On prisoners of darkness the sun begins to rise,

he visits and redeems us, he grants us liberty.
a Savior comes among us to raise us up to heaven.
the dawning of forgiveness upon the sinner’s eyes.

The prophets spoke of mercy, of freedom and release;
Before him goes his herald, forerunner in the way.
He guides the feet of pilgrims along the paths of peace.

God shall fulfill his promise and bring his people peace.
the prophet of salvation, the harbinger of Day.
O bless our God and Savior with songs that never cease.

HEN we sing, through our emotions the door of our understanding is opened to things far beyond the meaning of words. We sing ourselves into the grace of believing; too often we talk ourselves into doubt. So then, let us once in a while be filled with the freedom and the ecstasy of singing. The reward will be great. It will be that we are numbered among the immortals who sing the never-beginning, the never-ending, the ever old, the always new song to the praise of God.

The 2012 General Convention of the Episcopal Church in Indianapolis authorized continued use of and revisions to Holy Women, Holy Men: Celebrating the Saints, the volume that replaces Lesser Feasts and Fasts. Today’s celebration of the Holy Eucharist provides AAM the opportunity to acknowledge the importance of that compilation to the Church’s daily worship by commemorating the life and work of Harriett Beecher Stowe (d. 1896). The collect for the day is particularly beautiful, drawing attention to her indebtedness to the language of The Book of Common Prayer and to the prophetic witness of her fiction. This service also provides an opportunity to mine the riches of other supplemental resources that complement the themes sounded in the aforementioned collect, HWHM’s appointed lections and the brief biography of Stowe, namely, Wonder, Love, and Praise and Enriching Our Worship. We also seek to address what seems a rather glaring omission. The accolades of Holy Women, Holy Men notwithstanding, none of Harriett Beecher Stowe’s texts is included in Hymnal 1982. Therefore, we shall be singing a beloved hymn, “Still, Still with Thee,” still found in many American hymnals, and set to a lovely tune drawn from Felix Mendelssohn’s “Songs without Words.”

Let us pray.

Gracious God, we thank you for the witness of Harriet Beecher Stowe, whose fiction inspired thousands with compassion for the shame and sufferings of enslaved peoples, and who enriched her writings with the cadences of The Book of Common Prayer. Help us, like her, to strive for your justice, that our eyes may see the glory of your Son, Jesus Christ, when he comes to reign with you and the Holy Spirit in reconciliation and peace, one God, now and always. Amen.

First Lesson

Isaiah 26:7–13

The way of the righteous is level;
O Just One, you make smooth the path of the righteous.

In the path of your judgments,
O LORD, we wait for you;
your name and your renown are the soul’s desire.

My soul yearns for you in the night,
my spirit within me earnestly seeks you.

For when your judgments are in the earth,
the inhabitants of the world learn righteousness.

If favor is shown to the wicked,
they do not learn righteousness;
in the land of uprightness they deal perversely and do not see the majesty of the Lord.

O LORD, your hand is lifted up,
but they do not see it.

Let them see your zeal for your people, and be ashamed.
Let the fire for your adversaries consume them.

O LORD, you will ordain peace for us,
for indeed, all that we have done, you have done for us.

O LORD our God,
other lords besides you have ruled over us,
but we acknowledge your name alone.

Second Lesson

1 Corinthians 12:1–12

Now concerning spiritual gifts, brothers and sisters, I do not want you to be uninformed. You know that when you were pagans, you were enticed and led astray to idols that could not speak. Therefore I want you to understand that no one speaking by the Spirit of God ever says “Let Jesus be cursed!” and no one can say “Jesus is Lord” except by the Holy Spirit.

Now there are varieties of gifts, but the same Spirit; and there are varieties of services, but the same Lord; and there are varieties of activities, but it is the same God who activates all of them in everyone. To each is given the manifestation of the Spirit for the common good. To one is given through the Spirit the utterance of wisdom, and to another the utterance of knowledge according to the same Spirit, to another faith by the same Spirit, to another gifts of healing by the one Spirit, to another the working of miracles, to another prophecy, to another the discernment of spirits, to another various kinds of tongues, to another the interpretation of tongues. All these are activated by one and the same Spirit, who allots to each one individually just as the Spirit chooses.

For just as the body is one and has many members, and all the members of the body, though many, are one body, so it is with Christ.

Reader Hear what the Spirit is saying to God’s people.

People Thanks be to God.

Gospel

Matthew 23:1–12

Then the Deacon or a Priest reads the Gospel, first saying

The Holy Gospel of our Savior Jesus Christ according to Matthew.

People Glory to you, O Christ.

Then Jesus said to the crowds and to his disciples, “The scribes and the Pharisees sit on Moses’ seat; therefore, do whatever they teach you and follow it; but do not do as they do, for they do not practice what they teach. They tie up heavy burdens, hard to bear, and lay them on the shoulders of others; but they themselves are unwilling to lift a finger to move them. They do all their deeds to be seen by others; for they make their phylacteries broad and their fringes long. They love to have the place of honor at banquets and the best seats in the synagogues, and to be greeted with respect in the marketplaces, and to have people call them rabbi. But you are not to be called rabbi, for you have one teacher, and you are all students. And call no one your father on earth, for you have one Father—the one in heaven. Nor are you to be called instructors, for you have one instructor, the Messiah. The greatest among you will be your servant. All who exalt themselves will be humbled, and all who humble themselves will be exalted.

Reader The Gospel of Christ.
People Praise to you, O Christ.
The Sermon

The Nicene Creed

We believe in one God,
the Father, the Almighty,
maker of heaven and earth,
of all that is, seen and unseen.

We believe in one Lord, Jesus Christ,
the only Son of God,
eternally begotten of the Father,
God from God, Light from Light,
ture God from true God,
begotten, not made,
of one Being with the Father.
Through him all things were made.
For us and for our salvation
he came down from heaven,
by the power of the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Holy Spirit and the Virgin Mary and became truly human.
For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate;
he suffered death and was buried.
On the third day he rose again in accordance with the Scriptures;
he ascended into heaven
and is seated at the right hand of the Father.
He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead, and his kingdom will have no end.

We believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father, who with the Father and the Son is worshiped and glorified, who has spoken through the prophets.
We believe in one holy catholic and apostolic Church.
We acknowledge one baptism for the forgiveness of sins.
We look for the resurrection of the dead,
and the life of the world to come. Amen.

The Prayers of the People: Form III

The Leader and People pray responsively

Father, we pray for your holy Catholic Church;
That we all may be one.

Grant that every member of the Church may truly and humbly serve you;
That your Name may be glorified by all people.

We pray for all bishops, priests, and deacons;
That they may be faithful ministers of your Word and Sacraments.
We pray for all who govern and hold authority in the nations of the world;
That there may be justice and peace on the earth.

Give us grace to do your will in all that we undertake;
That our works may find favor in your sight.

Have compassion on those who suffer from any grief or trouble;
That they may be delivered from their distress.

Give to the departed eternal rest;
Let light perpetual shine upon them.

We praise you for your saints who have entered into joy;
May we also come to share in your heavenly kingdom.

Let us pray for our own needs and those of others.

Silence

The People may add their own petitions.

The Celebrant adds a concluding Collect.

Confession of Sin and Absolution

The Deacon or Celebrant says

Let us confess our sins to God.

Silence may be kept.

Minister and People

God of all mercy,
we confess that we have sinned against you,
opposing your will in our lives.
We have denied your goodness in each other,
in ourselves, and in the world you have created.
We repent of the evil that enslaves us,
the evil we have done,
and the evil done on our behalf.
Forgive, restore, and strengthen us through our Savior Jesus Christ, that we may abide in your love and serve only your will. Amen.

The Celebrant says

Almighty God have mercy on you, forgive you all your sins through the grace of Jesus Christ, strengthen you in all goodness, and by the power of the Holy Spirit keep you in eternal life. Amen.

The Peace

The Celebrant says to the people

The peace of Christ be always with you.

People And also with you.

Eucharistic Prayer 3
The Presider continues

All thanks and praise are yours at all times and in all places,
our true and loving God;
through Jesus Christ, your eternal Word,
the Wisdom from on high by whom you created all things.
You laid the foundations of the world and enclosed the sea when it burst out from the womb;
You brought forth all creatures of the earth and gave breath to humankind.

Wondrous are you, Holy One of Blessing, all you create is a sign of hope for our journey;
And so as the morning stars sing your praises
we join the heavenly beings and all creation as we shout with joy:

Holy, holy, holy

Music © Oxford University Press. All rights reserved. Reprinted under OneLicense.net E-802754.

The Presider continues

Glory and honor are yours, Creator of all, your Word has never been silent;
you called a people to yourself, as a light to the nations, you delivered them from bondage and led them to a land of promise.
Of your grace, you gave Jesus to be human, to share our life, to proclaim the coming of your holy reign and give himself for us, a fragrant offering.

Through Jesus Christ our Redeemer, you have freed us from sin,
brought us into your life,
reconciled us to you,
and restored us to the glory you intend for us.
We thank you that on the night before he died for us Jesus took bread, and when he had given thanks to you, he broke it,
gave it to his friends and said:
“Take, eat, this is my Body, broken for you.
Do this for the remembrance of me.”

After supper Jesus took the cup of wine, said the blessing, gave it to his friends and said: “Drink this, all of you:
this cup is the new Covenant in my Blood, poured out for you and for all for the forgiveness of sin.
Do this for the remembrance of me.”

And so, remembering all that was done for us:
the cross, the tomb, the resurrection and ascension, longing for Christ’s coming in glory, and presenting to you these gifts your earth has formed and human hands have made,
we acclaim you, O Christ:

Presider and People

Dying, you destroyed our death.
Rising, you restored our life.
Christ Jesus, come in glory!

The Presider continues

Send your Holy Spirit upon us and upon these gifts of bread and wine that they may be to us
the Body and Blood of your Christ.
Grant that we, burning with your Spirit’s power,
may be a people of hope, justice and love.

Giver of Life, draw us together in the Body of Christ, and in the fullness of time gather us with the Blessed Virgin Mary, Saint John the Evangelist, patron of this Cathedral Church, and all your people into the joy of our true eternal home.

Through Christ and with Christ and in Christ,
by the inspiration of your Holy Spirit,
we worship you our God and Creator in voices of unending praise.

Presider and People

Blessed are you now and for ever. AMEN.
The Celebrant says
As our Savior Christ has taught us, we now pray,

People and Celebrant
Our Father in heaven, hallowed be your Name,
your kingdom come,
your will be done,
on earth as in heaven.
Give us today our daily bread.
Forgive us our sins
as we forgive those who sin against us.
Save us from the time of trial,
and deliver us from evil.
For the kingdom, the power,
and the glory are yours,
now and for ever. Amen.

The Breaking of the Bread

The Celebrant breaks the consecrated Bread.
A period of silence is kept.
The Celebrant then says
God of promise, you have prepared a banquet for us.
Happy are those who are called to the Supper of the Lamb.
Facing the people, the Celebrant says the following Invitation
The Gifts of God for the People of God.

Hymn
There is a balm in Gilead
After the hymn, the Celebrant says

Let us pray.

Celebrant and People

God of abundance,
you have fed us
with the bread of life and cup of salvation;
you have united us
with Christ and one another;
and you have made us one with all your people in heaven and on earth.
Now send us forth in the power of your Spirit, that we may proclaim your redeeming love to the world and continue for ever in the risen life of Christ our Savior. Amen.

The Celebrant blesses the people, first saying

God be with you.

People And also with you.

Live without fear: your Creator has made you holy, has always protected you, and loves you as a mother. Go in peace to follow the good road and may God’s blessing be with you always. Amen.

A Minister dismisses them with these words

Let us go forth in the name of Christ.

People Thanks be to God.
Hymn

Still, still with thee

1 Still, still with thee, when purple morning breaketh,
2 Alone with thee, amid the mystic shadows,
3 As in the dawn ing, o'er the wave less ocean,
4 When sinks the soul subdued by toil to slumber,
5 So shall it be at last, in that bright morning.

1 when the bird waketh and the shadows flee;
2 the solemn hush of nature newly born;
3 the image of the morning star doth rest;
4 its closing eye looks up to thee in prayer;
5 when the soul waketh and life's shadows flee.

1 fairer than morning, lover than day-light
2 alone with thee in breath less adoration,
3 so in this stillness thou beholdest only
4 sweet the repose beneath thy wings ever shading,
5 oh! in that hour, fairer than day-light dawning.

1 dawns the sweet consciousness, I am with thee.
2 in the calm dew and freshness of the morn.
3 thine image in the waters of my breast.
4 but sweeter still to wake and find thee there.
5 shall rise the glorious thought, I am with thee.

Crucifixus pro nobis

Daniel Hutchings, tenor solo
Kenneth Leighton (1929–1988)

1. Christ in the Cradle
   Look, how he shakes for cold!
   How pale his lips are grown!
   Wherein his limbs to fold
   Yet mantle has he none.
   His pretty feet and hands
   (Of late, more pure and white
   Than is the snow
   That pains them so)
   Have lost their candour quite.
   His lips are blue
   (Where roses grew),
   He’s frozen everywhere:
   All the heat he has Joseph, alas,
   Gives in a groan; or Mary in a tear.

2. Christ in the Garden
   Look, how he glows for heat!
   What flames come from his eyes!
   ’Tis blood that he does sweat,
   Blood his bright forehead dyes:
   See, see! it trickles down:
   Look, how it showers amain!
   Through every pore
   His blood runs o’er,
   And empty leaves each vein.
   His very heart
   Burns in each part;
   A fire his breath doth sear:
   For all this flame,
   To cool the same
   He only breathes a sigh, and weeps a tear.
3. Christ in his Passion
   What bruises do I see!
   What hideous stripes are those!
   Could any cruel be Enough, to give such blows?
   Look, how they bind his arms
   And vex his soul with scorns,
   Upon his hair
   They make him wear
   A crown of piercing thorns.
   Through hands and feet
   Sharp nails they beat:
   And now the cross they rear:
   Many look on;
   But only John
   Stands nigh to sigh, Mary to shed a tear.
   Why did he shake for cold?
   Why did he glow for heat?
   Dissolve that frost he could,
   He could call back that sweat.
   Those bruises, stripes, bonds, taunts,
   Those thorns, which thou dost see,
   Those nails, that cross,
   His own life’s loss,
   Why, oh, why suffered he?
   ’Twas for thy sake.
   Thou, thou didst make Him all those torments bear:
   If then his love
   Do thy soul move,
   Sigh out a groan, weep down a melting tear.
   —Patrick Cary (c. 1624–1658)

4. Hymn
   Drop, drop, slow tears,
   And bathe those beauteous feet
   Which brought from Heaven
   The news and Prince of Peace:
   Cease not, wet eyes,
   His mercy to entreat;
   To cry for vengeance
   Sin doth never cease.
   In your deep floods
   Drown all my faults and fears;
   Nor let his eye
   See sin, but through my tears.

St. Martin’s Chamber Choir, Colorado’s first year-round, professional choral ensemble of its size, was founded in 1993 by current Artistic Director Timothy J. Krueger, holding its first concert in St. Martin’s Chapel of St. John’s Episcopal Cathedral in Denver. The debut site lent the ensemble its name, although their current rehearsal and performance home, as well as administrative offices, are at St. Andrew’s Episcopal Church, Denver, where Krueger is Choirmaster. The ensemble has released 12 recordings in its nearly 20-year history, the most popular remaining A Marian Christmas (1998), and is broadcast frequently on Colorado Public Radio and other radio stations. On September 11, 2011, St. Martin’s was selected by Colorado Public Radio to be featured in a live broadcast to mark the 10th anniversary of the 9/11 terrorist attacks, representing the first live broadcast of an a cappella choir in Colorado. Varying in size and composition based on the repertoire of a particular concert, St. Martin’s has appeared in concerts with as few as 4 voices, and as many as 32, with 12–24 being the typical range. St. Martin’s gives about 20–30 concerts a year, and has been featured at the General Convention of the Episcopal Church, the National Performing Arts Conference, Chorus America conferences, ACDA conferences, the Colorado Music Festival (Boulder), the Mt. Collins Bach Festival, and many local and regional concert series. St. Martin’s has collaborated with the Colorado Music Festival Orchestra, the Baroque Chamber Orchestra of Colorado, the Boulder Philharmonic, and many other instrumental ensembles and soloists in Colorado.

Notes

Kenneth Leighton (1929–1988), whose musical training included time as a chorister at Wakefield Cathedral (Yorkshire), the Royal College of Music, and Queen’s College, Oxford, continued in the academic field for his entire career, including stints at the University of Leeds, Oxford, and finally as the Reid Professor of Music at Edinburgh University. His early compositional style was highly influenced by such composers as Vaughan Williams, Britten, and Walton, and did not move far from the English cathedral tradition of his childhood; but an increasing interest in serialism led to a more dissonant and avant-garde path, though he always retained a strong penchant for melody. Crucifixus pro nobis comes from the middlish portion of his career (1961), and was written for David Lumsden and the choir of New College, Oxford. The text is a four-verse poem by the 17th century mystical poet Patrick Cary, contrasting the wintry cold of Christ’s nativity with the scorching heat of his suffering in the Garden of Gethsemane and on the cross. Each “verse” of the poem parallels the other three in its imagery, and each ends with a sigh and a tear. The latter imagery gives rise to the Epilogue of the set, which is Phineas Fletcher’s hymn “Drop, drop slow tears.” The latter movement, which is a cappella, is frequently excerpted.

Alexander Gretchaninov (1864–1956) studied in Moscow with Tanayev and Arensky, and also in St. Petersburg with Rimsky-Korsakov. The latter recognized his great talent and, as his studies were not being funded by his family, who had discouraged his musical pursuits, gave him monetary support, which led to a life-long friendship. Gretchaninov wrote for all major forms—chamber, orchestral, and choral—and had experienced marked success up to the time of the Russian Revolution. His association with the Tsars, however (Nicolas II had awarded him a life pension), prompted his emigration to France, and later, in 1939 at the age of 75, to the United States. When in France he was commissioned to write a Roman Catholic Mass setting for organ and choir (1936–7). The result, the Missa Festiva, is an unusual but captivating hybrid of styles, exhibiting the block sonorities and harmonic parallelism of Russian Orthodox music, alongside the more lyrical, western-style melodies and lush harmonies of French Roman Catholic sacred music. He is buried in Ocean County, Jackson Township, New Jersey.

Notes by Timothy J. Krueger; his biography and that for Daniel Stipe are found in the Convention Personalities section.

Notes

In 1920 Marcel Dupré published his set of three Préludes et fugues, Op. 7, and like many pinnacles of virtuosity, these pieces were originally declared unplayable. Such declarations, however, rarely survive the test of time, and these masterpieces have entered the repertoire of the most skilled performers. With these pieces Dupré confirmed his artistic and technical lineage within the tradition of Jacques Lemmens and Charles-Marie Widor who placed great emphasis on the technical aspects of organ playing in addition to the intangibles of musicality. The Prelude and Fugue in B Major is the first of the set and is marked by unflagging exuberance. The Prelude combines two French keyboard genres, the toccata and the carillon, with a perpetual patter of sixteenth notes accompanying a solemn and majestic melody which passes between the pedals and manuals. The Fugue begins with a reduced volume but maintains the energy and virtuosity of the preceding movement with a subject that is reminiscent of the Prelude’s figurations. The Fugue displays Dupré’s famed mastery of counterpoint and arrives at a triumphant conclusion.

Much to the dismay of organ enthusiasts, Mozart left behind no large-scale works for the organ. Indeed, the end of the eighteenth century was a dry time for organ composition among the greatest composers of the time, Haydn, Mozart, and Beethoven. Even though all three were known to be accomplished organists, their fame as organists lies not in their compositions, but rather in their skill as improvisers. However, organists can take comfort in a small amount of works composed by all three, originally intended for a musical curiosity of the day: the Flötenuhr, a mechanical organ set within the workings of a clock. The Flötenuhr could range in size from a few octaves of pipes at 4’ pitch (such as originally intended for Mozart’s Andante in F, K. 616) up to a full-sized instrument complete with 16’ ranks and reeds. Wolfgang Plath points out that the notes of such pieces for mechanical organs “are not meant to be played. Instead, they serve the instrument builder or mechanic as a guide for creating an organ barrel with the requisite pins, thereby converting the notes of the music into a pseudo-notation suitable for a reproduction on a clockwork instrument.” Much like a modern-day music box, pins placed on the exterior of a barrel serve as the impulse necessary to set the inner workings in motion to operate the organ mechanically. In their original form, these pieces are unplayable by one performer. In a certain sense, you might call these pieces ‘transcriptions’ when heard performed live. There are a few frequently-used publications available for these pieces, but many performers decide to create their own transcriptions based on the original manuscripts, in Mozart’s case written on four staves without indication of manual versus pedal. Today’s performance is from a published version from Bärenreiter-Verlag, Christoph Albrecht, editor.

Sir George Thalben-Ball was organist and choirmaster at the Temple Church in London where he and his choir earned national fame for their choral recordings in the 1920s. In addition to his church work, he served as Birmingham City Organist and director of the BBC Singers as well as curator of the organ at Royal Albert Hall. Despite his more conservative style, his music remains popular with audiences for its direct appeal and solid artistry. His Elegy presents a single sustained melody in a dynamic arch that begins softly, builds to a climax and concludes at rest once again, similar to many of the works of his contemporaries Herbert Howells and Frank Bridge. The Elegy was originally an improvisation that Thalben-Ball played at the end of a choral evensong radio broadcast around 1930, which he later notated and published.

In general musical history, Josef Rheinberger is known primarily as an influential teacher; within the organ world, however, he is famous for his twenty organ sonatas. His original plan was to complete one sonata in all twenty-four keys, much like Bach’s Well Tempered Clavier, but he passed away before his project was completed. Firmly rooted in the Classical tradition, Rheinberger disliked the music of Liszt and Wagner. His vast corpus of organ music all reflects his affinity more to the music of Bach, Mozart, and earlier nineteenth-century composers such as Mendelssohn and Schubert. Sonata No. 8 is one of Rheinberger’s better-known works, largely due to the popularity of its exquisite final movement, the Passacaglia. The first movement begins with a brief, yet tumultuous introduction that gives way to an austere fugue. The second movement is a delicate intermezzo much like the organ works of Mendelssohn and his famous Songs without Words for piano. The third movement, a fiery scherzo, elides into the concluding Passacaglia. This final movement is perhaps Rheinberger’s most famous work and is often coupled with the introduction from the first movement and played on its own in recitals.

Twenty years ago, the Iliff School of Theology joined with the Episcopal Diocese of Colorado to provide a concentration in Anglican Studies for students in the Master of Divinity degree program. More recently, a certificate in Anglican Studies has also been made available. The Order for Noonday we are using reflects a slight adaptation of a service offered regularly under the auspices of the Anglican Studies Program at Iliff. The course schedule at Iliff is delivered in three four-hour blocks during the day and evening. Faculty and students in the Anglican Studies Program contribute this worship opportunity as a gift to the larger Iliff community between the morning and afternoon classes. The motto for Noonday Prayers at Iliff is: “Stay to Pray; Prepare with Prayer.” Students in homiletics courses frequently provide brief sermons for this 25-minute service, which is followed by a brown-bag lunch.

The organ concert being concluded, a period of silence is observed. The People stand at the entrance of the Ministers.

Officiant O God, make speed to save us.
People O Lord, make haste to help us.

Officiant and People
Glory to our Creator, our Sustainer, and our Redeemer: as it was in the beginning, is now, and will be forever. Amen. Alleluia.

The First Lesson

James 2:14–18

What good is it, my brothers and sisters, if you say you have faith but do not have works?
Can faith save you? If a brother or sister is naked and lacks daily food, and one of you says to them, “Go in peace; keep warm and eat your fill,” and yet you do not supply their bodily needs, what is the good of that? So faith by itself, if it has no works, is dead.

But someone will say, “You have faith and I have works.” Show me your faith apart from your works, and I by my works will show you my faith.
The Second Lesson
Matthew 7:7–12

Ask, and it will be given you; search, and you will find; knock, and the door will be opened for you. For everyone who asks receives, and everyone who searches finds, and for everyone who knocks, the door will be opened. Is there anyone among you who, if your child asks for bread, will give a stone? Or if the child asks for a fish, will give a snake? If you then, who are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father in heaven give good things to those who ask him!

In everything do to others as you would have them do to you; for this is the law and the prophets.

A Meditation

_After the Meditation, a brief silence is observed. The Officiant then begins the Prayers, the People standing._

Officiant
God be with you;

People
And also with you.

Officiant
Let us pray.

The Lord’s Prayer
_A New Zealand Prayerbook_

Eternal Spirit
Earth-Maker, Pain-bearer, Life-giver, source of all that is and that shall be,
Father and Mother of us all,
Loving God, in whom is heaven:

The hallowing of your name echoes through the universe!
The way of your justice be followed by the peoples of the world!
Your heavenly will be done by all created beings!
Your commonwealth of peace and freedom sustain our hope and come on earth.

With the bread we need for today, feed us.
In the hurts we absorb from one another, forgive us.
In times of temptation and test, spare us.
From the grip of all that is evil, free us.

For you reign in the glory of the power that is love,
now and forever. Amen.

_A Prayer for the Day_

Almighty God, who has given us this good land as our heritage: We humbly pray that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of your favor and glad to do your will. Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning, and pure manners. Save us from violence, discord, and confusion; from pride and arrogance, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties, and fashion into one united people the multitudes brought together out of many families and languages. Endue with the spirit of wisdom those to whom in your Name we entrust the authority of government that there may be justice and peace at home, and that, through obedience to your law, we may show forth your praise among the nations of the earth. In the time of prosperity, fill our hearts with thankfulness, and in the day of trouble, let not our trust in your mercy fail; all which we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

A Prayer for Mission

Almighty Savior, who at noonday called your servant Saint Paul to be an apostle to the Gentiles: We pray you to illumine the world with the radiance of your glory, that all nations may come and worship you; for you live and reign for ever and ever. Amen.

Free Intercessions

The intercessions conclude with

Officiant Lord, in your mercy,
People Hear our prayer.

Warum ist das Licht gegeben (Op. 74, No. 1)  Johannes Brahms (1833–1897)

Why is light given to those in misery, and life to afflicted souls, to those who wait for death, and it comes not; who dig for it secretly, who nearly rejoice and are glad that they have found the grave, and to the one whose way is hidden and from whom God had hidden himself?

—Job 3:20-23

Why is light given to those in misery, and life to afflicted souls, to those who wait for death, and it comes not; who dig for it secretly, who nearly rejoice and are glad that they have found the grave, and to the one whose way is hidden and from whom God had hidden himself?

—Job 3:20-23

Let us lift up our hearts and our hands to God in heaven.

III.

Canticum Calamitatis Maritimae  Jaakko Mäntyjärvi (b. 1963)

Emily Sorensen, soprano; Jim Sena, bass

May the eternal light shine upon them, O Lord, and may perpetual light shine upon them.

Have mercy, O Lord.

Over eight hundred people perished in a shipwreck in the Northern Baltic Sea. The car ferry Estonia, en route from Tallinn to Stockholm, was overturned in a severe storm and sank. There were about one thousand passengers on board. Nine hundred ten people lost their lives in the wreck of the Estonia; one hundred thirty nine were saved.

—Nuntii Latini

They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters; these see the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deep.

For he commandeth, and raiseth the stormy wind, which lifteth up the waves thereof. They mount up to the heaven, they go down again to the depths; their soul is melted because of trouble. They reel to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, et omnis sapientia eorum devorata est.
Et clamaverunt ad Dominum cum tribularentur et de necessitatibus eorum eduxit eos et statuit procellam eius;
in auram et siluerunt fluctus eius et laetati sunt quia siluerunt et deduxit eos in protum voluntatis eorum.

Requiem aeternam ...

and are at their wit’s end. Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distresses. He maketh the storm calm, so that the waves thereof are still. Then are they glad because they be quiet; so he bringeth them unto their desired haven.

—Psalm 107:23–30

Eternal peace ...

Due West (selections)

Stephen Chatman (b. 1950)

Poems by Tara Wohlb erg (b. 1967)

Prairie Lullaby (Jessica Larson, soprano)
The patchwork quilt has tucked you in, the swallows come to rest, A little polish on the moon the night falls in the West.
Lilac, lilac, mauve and blue, prairie orchid, midnight dew, I rock you gently sweet one, I love you.
Sweet berry stains smile on your lips, deep plums, a sticky red, The bramble bushes scratched your knees.
Now rest your sleepy head.
The wind delights in bringing hope, each breeze a brand new start, It sways the fields of tender wheat and softens bitter hearts.

Sunset
When the sun sets West, Feathered shift of sky, Satin clouds undress, Heaven’s kiss bids the flat light goodbye, Endless calm, red mist, Glist’ning golden beams, Gently they are kissed By night’s dark melting blaze of dreams, When the sun sets West, and the clouds undress.

Chickadee (Emily Sorensen, soprano)
Chickadee, Chickadee flying free, Come to me, Chickadee, bob in glee, Care-free double knee bob in glee, Care-free Chickadee flying free, Chickadee, fly away.

Christus est stella

Christ is the morning star, Alleluia; Who when the night of this world is past, Alleluia; Promises and reveals to his saints, Alleluia; The everlasting light of life, Alleluia.

Gustav Holst (1874–1934)

Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace: according to thy word.
For mine eyes have seen: thy salvation,
Which thou hast prepared: before the face of all people;
To be a light to lighten the Gentiles: and to be the glory of thy people Israel.

Founded in 1992 by Artistic Director Deborah Jenkins Teske, the Colorado Vocal Arts Ensemble is dedicated to traditional choral works and new, innovative programming. While remaining primarily an a cappella chamber ensemble, CVAE performs with other organizations on a regular basis. Past collaborations have included work with the Colorado Springs Children’s Chorale, the Chamber Orchestra of the Springs, The Denver Brass, Ormao Dance Company, and the Colorado Youth Ballet.

Dedicated to educational outreach, CVAE has shared the choral art with thousands of community members. CVAE’s successful high school residency program, Gateways: Opening Doors to the Choral Art mentors secondary choral programs throughout the area. CVAE was honored to serve a year-long appointment as Visiting Ensemble-in-Residence at Colorado College for the 2008-2009 academic year. The ensemble returned to the college again in 2011 to present a collaborative concert with the Colorado College Chamber Chorus. Voice, Verse and Vision, a multimedia arts collaboration involving singers, poets, visual artists, and composers, received Chorus America’s Education Outreach Award for 2003. This prestigious award brought CVAE national recognition for a highly effective program at minimal cost.

CVAE was the recipient of the Pikes Peak Arts Council’s Arts/Business/Education award for 2003, the Arts Council’s award for Best Concert by a Small Ensemble, first in 2005 for Wintersong, in 2010 for The Color of Grace, a Taylor Memorial Concert, and most recently, for Voices of Light in 2011 with the Chamber Orchestra of the Springs.

The Ensemble has performed extensively throughout the state of Colorado and ventured into new territory with a seven-day tour of Southern California in 2006. As a featured performer at the 2002 Chorus America conference in Denver, CVAE was honored to represent Colorado Springs to the entire North American choral music community. Now entering its 21st season, CVAE has established a tradition of choral performance at the highest level of innovation and professionalism.
Notes

The Colorado Vocal Arts Ensemble would like to express gratitude for this opportunity to perform for the 2013 AAM Annual Conference. It is an honor to welcome you to Colorado. This evening’s program opens with works by Renaissance masters of Spain and England. From the Spanish Renaissance, we feature works by Francisco Guerrero and Alonso Lobo. Guerrero’s setting of Duo Seraphim is for triple-choir, exploiting the spatial possibilities of many angels with duets, trios, and full choirs to stunning effect. Lobo’s motet Versa est in luctum, for 6 voices, was composed specifically for the funeral of Phillip II in 1598. Henry Purcell, dubbed the “Orpheus Britannicus,” is among England’s greatest composers. Hear my Prayer, O Lord demonstrates Purcell’s mastery of expressive word painting using tense chromatic dissonance and very concise motivic material. Orlando Gibbons’ full anthem Hosanna to the Son of David is one of the finest examples of the Old English School of Church Music. Well suited for the liturgy of Palm Sunday, this jubilant work may have originally been composed for a royal ceremony.

Johannes Brahms’ motet Warum ist das Licht gegeben is a philosophical confrontation with death. It draws on texts from both the Old and the New Testaments, a compilation which Brahms selected himself, and includes excerpts from the books of Job, James, and Lamentations. The work begins with a passage asking the question, “Why give light to those for whom life is a misery?” The question is addressed in subsequent sections, but not really answered, suggesting that as mortals we are unable to understand. Yet to be patient and to endure in spite of our unenlightened state will bring us blessings. Brahms was a great admirer of Bach, and like a Bach cantata, this motet ends with a chorale which summarizes the message of the work as a whole: trusting in God will lead us to peace.

Canticum Calamitatis Maritimae, by Estonian composer Jaakko Mäntyjärvi, is dedicated to the memory of those who lost their lives in the shipwreck of the Estonia on September 28, 1994. Although fragments of the Requiem text are quoted, the work is not intended for liturgical use, but rather as a meditation involving three distinct elements: first, the individual aspect—the “folk song” soprano solo that begins and ends the work; secondly the objective aspect—the “precenter” intoning the bare facts of the events in a newsreader’s style, taken from Nuntii Latini, a weekly news broadcast in Latin by the Finnish Broadcasting Company. Third, there is the collective aspect—the extensive setting of the psalm Qui descendunt mare in navibus (“They that go down to the sea in ships”). This work is a dramatic tour-de-force, using vocal effects to mimic a number of sounds associated with the disaster. The whispering voices at the beginning suggest the hiss of sea-spray or radio static; the humming in the bass part suggests ship’s engines. Later in the piece, powerful dissonances suggest the shriek of shearing metal; rhythmic declamations of individual syllables in the text mimic the transmission of an “SOS” signal in Morse Code. The final words of the piece—requiem aeternam—are voiced in the bass and soprano registers, suggesting foghorns and marine bells, respectively.

As a brief digression from sacred music traditions, we offer selections from Due West, by Stephen Chatman. One of Canada’s most prominent composers, Chatman is Professor of Composition at The University of British Columbia, Vancouver. He is recognized internationally as a composer of choral, orchestral, and piano music. Due West is a song cycle using simple textures and open harmonies to evoke images of western landscapes in brief musical snapshots. It is one part of a larger group of three choral collections, which includes Due North and Due East, all commissioned for and premiered by the Vancouver Chamber Choir.

Returning to Anglican influences, the text of Will Todd’s Christus est stella is inscribed in a word sculpture above the tomb of its author, the Venerable Bede (763–735), located in the Galilee Chapel of Durham Cathedral. Well known as an author and scholar, Bede’s most famous work, The Ecclesiastical History of the English People, gained him the title “The Father of English History.” On the north side of Grace Church’s Choir Library are six windows tracing the Anglican lineage from Durham, Canterbury, York, and Lincoln in England, to New York and Washington in the U.S. The program concludes with Holst’s 8-part
Nunc Dimittis, written for Westminster Cathedral and first performed there on Easter Sunday in 1915. The original manuscript disappeared, but a partial autograph copy survived, and was revised and prepared for publication by Holst’s daughter, Imogen.

British composer John Knox is lauded as one of the world’s most prolific and beloved composers of carillon music. He will be honored during the 72nd annual Congress of the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America at the University of Denver in 2014.

John Courter was equally beloved and lauded. He composed music in many different styles. In 1993, Mr. Courter was awarded the prestigious Berkeley Medal for Distinguished Service to the Carillon as a performer and composer. He was a Fellow of the American Guild of Organists, the highest certificate of achievement, and a member of the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America.

The Appalachian White Spirituals set by Ronald Barnes were gathered from several sources. “Land Beyond the Clouds” came from the Church Intelligencer. “Tranquility” and “Jesus Christ the Apple Tree” are found in Christian Harmony, 1805.

Terry Vaughan was a New Zealand composer. Besides “Summer Song,” he composed the piece used to inaugurate the National Carillon in Canberra, Australia, in 1970.

Jon Lehrer wrote “Valse Romantique” while in Mechelen, attending the Royal Carillon School “Jef Denyn.” He premiered the piece in his final examination, and he graduated with great distinction.

The Denver Brass, comprised of 14 of Colorado’s finest professional musicians, is unique in the world for its year-round season of shows and outreach concerts that engage audiences through the incorporation of guest soloists and hosts, participatory activities, music created especially for the ensemble, and exceptional lighting and multimedia techniques. Musicians are selected not only for exceptional technical and creative skills, but also for their integrity, dedication to community, and support of fellow musicians and mission. Strongly-themed concerts, from “Latin Brass Hot, Hot, Hot!” to “Bourbon Street Brass” and “Brass, Bagpipes & Co.,” draw audiences to a unique social and sound experience. The Denver Brass has produced 24 recordings, and is heard daily on radio stations around the world. The Denver Brass, one of the top 25 cultural attractions in Denver, is a 2008 recipient of the Mayor’s Award for Excellence in the Arts.

Notes

Brian Pfoltner was appointed Director of Music at First Presbyterian Church in Lincoln, Nebraska in the fall of 2006. In this position he oversees the entire music program, directs the adult choir and bell choir, and various instrumental groups, and has directed the creation of the fine arts series: Arts for the Soul—Music & Fine Arts at First Presbyterian. Brian received his Doctor of Musical Arts degree from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in 1995. Brian also holds degrees from the University of Kansas, Lawrence, and Morningside College, Sioux City, Iowa. From 1993 to 2006 Brian was an active member of the music program at First Plymouth Congregational Church in Lincoln, serving as composer/arranger-in-residence and assistant conductor. He also played trumpet in the Plymouth Brass, a group for which he wrote and arranged over 50 works, as well as for the Plymouth and Abendmusik Choirs. In 2008 Dr. Pfoltner was awarded the Nebraska Arts Council’s Distinguished Achievement Award for musical composition, the highest award given by that organization for individual artists.

Pikes Peak Overture is not programmatic, but creates a general mood that tries to capture one’s emotions standing at the top of the 14,110-foot summit, looking out at the expansive and breathtaking view. The Overture is about a sense of grandeur and awe, standing on the stark and cold moonscape at the top, gazing out in wonder for miles in every direction. For fun, there are two very brief moments that use ideas from other works that fit the “cosmic” sense of the piece—early in the piece, something from Star Trek—Space, the Final Frontier; and a short segment at the end from Holst’s “Jupiter” from The Planets.

Arthur Bliss was a leading concert composer with an international reputation for orchestral and choral works, chamber music, and particularly ballet, who in 1953 succeeded Arnold Bax as Master of the Queen’s Musick. The appointment surprised some people who remembered Bliss as the “wild man” of British music in the 1920s, the trailblazer of European modernism who baffled and outraged the establishment with his “shocking” series of “experiments in sound and colour,” becoming the mentor of the new wave of composers like Constant Lambert and William Walton, whom he encouraged enthusiastically. Others were more surprised that he accepted the position, yet he embraced the role with enthusiasm and dedication, delighted to be part of a long tradition embracing figures like Purcell, Locke and Handel, and he was anxious to make “something new and memorable of the office.”

More than that, though, Bliss felt a genuine warmth and affection for the young new Queen. It was personal, and but for this combination of devotion and duty he would not have been coaxed into writing the Ceremonial Prelude at all. By 1963, in his seventies after nearly half a century at the forefront of a musical scene he had successively shocked, intrigued, enriched, guided, and graced as a composer, conductor, arranger, and writer, among other functions, Bliss found life catching up with him. “My ability to concentrate is now less,” he wrote, “my joy in writing on the wane.” Reluctant to fall short of his own exacting standard or to repeat himself, he decided to hang up his pen. Of course, a real creative imagination doesn’t work like that, and inevitably the composer was seduced back to the writing desk and an amazing flowering of late masterpieces, but for five years he considered himself firmly in retirement. There was the odd hymn tune, half-minute fanfare of choral miniature for a friend, but nothing significant or characteristic—apart, that is, from the Ceremonial Prelude.

The occasion was a special service in 1965 to mark the 900th anniversary of the founding of Westminster Abbey. The Ceremonial Prelude, with Bliss himself conducting the (then) New Philharmonia Orchestra brass section and organist Simon Preston, was “designed to accompany the Queen from her entry in procession from the Great West Door to the Chapel of St. Edward where she was to place upon the altar of the shrine her tribute of red roses, and thence to her Stall in Quire.”

[Bliss’s composition displays] a perfect marriage of ceremonial statement, pure musical thought and perfect timing, which never overplays its hand. Scoring is for a normal orchestral brass section plus timpani and one sparingly-used but important tubular bell, and organ. Like Elgar, Bliss does not favor block scoring, here or anywhere else, but organizes part-writing with subtle mastery as snatches of fanfare overlay a continuously unfolding statement to produce an integrated sound tapestry of solemnity shot through with moments of brilliance.

Chris Hazell is one of those enviable characters who excels at any number of tasks with infuriating mastery, who brings expertise to countless branches of music, and who has achieved notable results in many areas of the profession. He is impervious to fashion and as a composer makes no distinction between “art” music, educational pieces, and the lighter side. Music is either effective and appropriate for the context or it isn’t; it is either well-crafted or it’s not. The spontaneity of his work and its seemingly effortless facility conceal a wealth of craft and a lot of thought.

If there is such a thing as a tradition of writing for organ and brass, Hazell’s long involvement with the Philip Jones Ensemble, both as their recording producer and arranger, and his organ studies at the Royal College of Music would place him at the heart of it. The Denver Brass has also championed his work for some time, with rather special results, so when the suggestion came to collaborate with them again, he took little persuading. As a practicing church organist, Hazell was well aware of both the potential and the pitfalls. From Age to Age works on several levels—as a suite of three attractive movements in contrasting, complementary styles; as a group of snapshots along the path of musical development; and as a set of variations—or reflections maybe—on a well-known theme which reveals itself fully only at the end of the piece.

The first movement, Renaissance Dance, complete with tambourine, is something between a brisk galliard and a courante. The music explores a catalogue of irregular beat-shifting meters to keep listeners on their toes, all the time shadowed teasingly by the other melody, as we later discover. Romance is an affectionate tribute to Victorian sacred music, a slow, sumptuously-harmonized movement full of suspensions and with a “good romantic tune.” The “hidden melody” is rather more hidden here, its main job being to give shape to the line and phrases.

In the final movement, Toccata, the longest and most spectacular, the composer reveals a passion for the French organ toccata by writing one of his own. It is a real Sortie in the tradition of Widor and Gigout, celebrating their virtuosic spirit while providing a practical organ part. As the movement progresses to its conclusion, we reach the moment we have all been subconsciously waiting for, when the hidden subject of these meditations reveals itself in all its glory as the majestic hymn “O God, our help in ages past, our hope for years to come,” and everything falls into place. Is there perhaps a tinge of irony that in evoking the Victorian age when religious piety was at its greatest, the hymn tune is buried most deeply?

Minnesota-based Stephen Paulus is a composer who has steadily assumed a more prominent role in American music. He boasts several CDs exclusively devoted to his music, and has served as composer-in-residence to the Atlanta Symphony (1988–1992) and the Minnesota Orchestra (1983–1987). Born in New Jersey, Mr. Paulus was educated at the University of Minnesota, where he studied composition with Paul Fetler and Dominick Argento. In 1973, he and Libby Larsen founded the Minnesota Composers Forum, an organization that has continued to be a powerful and innovative force in new music. A prolific composer with diverse interests, Paulus has written six operas, thirty orchestral compositions, and nearly 180 works for chorus. He also has a lifelong acquaintance with the organ. Although he considers himself primarily a pianist, he studied organ. More to the point, his father was a church organist who played extensively, ensuring Paulus’s familiarity with the instrument and its literature.

His Toccata for Solo Organ, composed in 1996, is a virtuoso showpiece of about ten minutes’ duration. It was commissioned by and is dedicated to Kathy Handford, who on July 2, 1996 played the first performance at the Eastman School of Music. “She wanted a challenging piece, something she could dig into,” recalls the composer. “Kathy has a commanding technique herself. I chose a toccata because it connoted a technical piece of considerable dimension. The idea of brisk movement was important. I wanted the piece to move along quite handily.” And indeed it does. The music is unpredictable, with a couple of climactic moments in the middle, from which it rebuilds to the thunderous excitement of the end.

One musical detail that occurs twice in the Toccata is a switch among multiple manuals, using the Great, Swell, and Positive divisions in rapid succession for several measures. “This allows accents on an instrument that doesn’t tolerate accents,” Paulus explains. “The change in registration results in a shift in color and dynamics that exploits the unique quality of the organ. It wouldn’t have nearly the same impact on a piano. The different combination of stops makes for something almost like an echo effect.” He points out that the Toccata requires considerable stamina from the performer, because the music doesn’t let up, proceeding almost relentlessly for ten minutes. “It’s fast and furious and fun to listen to,” summarized Robert T. Anderson.

Gaston Litaize and his Cortège live firmly in and on behalf of the church, specifically the church of simple faith. Litaize’s governing vocation was to enrich the devotional experience of ordinary worshipers. He used all his abilities, which were considerable, but stealthily, and the outcome is the opposite of ostentatious.

Litaize occupies a special place in the national affections. He was born in 1909, and blind from birth, came from the Vosges region, thus untroubled by the post-war artistic trauma of faraway Paris as he grew up, but not untouched by the ripples. He confronted spiritual poverty, materialism and artistic confusion with robust faith and aesthetic certainty, coupled with respect for the strong musical tradition of Couperin, on whom he was a dedicated authority.

Cortège appeared in 1950, and is scored for organ plus three each of trumpets and trombones. The piece enjoys a language of chromatic modality and is practical in that its walking-pace tempo makes it ideal for processing in a service or ceremony.

It is easy to forget the importance of Edward Elgar’s Imperial March. Born in 1857, Elgar is invariably described, with justification, as the greatest English-born composer since Purcell. A late developer, Elgar was in his forties before his music began making any serious impact outside his immediate locale, but with a succession of orchestral pieces and especially choral works performed at major festivals he steadily became “a man to watch,” even if only outside the capital. It wasn’t the cantatas that made his name in London, though; circumstances, for once, came to his aid—circumstances and pomp.

In 1897 Queen Victoria celebrated her Diamond Jubilee, with the eyes of London, the British Empire, and the world on the celebrations. Elgar, a monarchist, if an unorthodox one, was swept along by national fervor to the extent of specially revising his cantata The Banner of St. George and composing an orchestral Imperial March. Both were well received, but the March, premiered at the Crystal Palace, was a sensation.
It caught the public imagination, was soon played everywhere and began appearing in any number of arrangements, including an organ version which was the starting place for this transcription.

The composer, in the right place at the right time for once, was famous overnight, if briefly. The door, if not exactly open, was at least ajar; he had still to follow up with serious major works, but we should remember that, but for the Imperial March, the history of British music might have been a little different. The piece speaks for itself: a traditional march form, with a characteristically rousing Elgar theme flanking an equally characteristic, expansive, indulgent middle section. It’s a worthy forerunner of the Pomp and Circumstance set, and if it’s been rather upstaged by its successors, let’s hope this practical new version for organ with orchestral brass and percussion brings it to a wider audience.

The “canonical hours,” appointed times of prayer and meditation to be observed by the monastic community, were laid out by St. Benedict in his Rule (540 CE) and are the precursors of the daily offices. None, offered about 3:00 p.m. daily, is the fifth of those hours. Benedict noted that the Psalmist, whom he presumed to be David speaking prophetically, says: “Seven times a day do I praise you, because of your righteous judgments” (Psalm 119:164). “We fulfill this sacred number of seven, Benedict said, if we satisfy our obligations of service at Lauds, Prime, Terce, Sext, None, Vespers, and Compline” (Rule, 16.2). For Prime, Benedict specified three Psalms, each followed by the Gloria Patri, a hymn sung after an opening versicle from Psalm 70:2 (“God, come to my assistance”), one reading, and concluding versicle (“Lord, have mercy”) and the dismissal. “Prayer is celebrated in the same way at Terce, Sext, and None,” according to Benedict, “that is, the opening verse, the hymn appropriate to each hour, three psalms, a reading with a versicle and the dismissal” (Rule, 17.2-3).

The reading we shall be hearing for this service is W. H. Auden’s poem, Nones (Auden added the s to the classic spelling of None), published initially (along with Prime) in a 1951 collection dedicated to the American giant of Neo-Orthodoxy, Reinhold Niebuhr, and his wife, Ursula. In a letter, Auden says it reflects a religious sensibility and theological anthropology akin to Niebuhr’s, one more Augustinian in its outlook, than Thomist. Auden identified himself, after his re-appropriation of Christianity, as an Anglo-Catholic. Nones and Prime are later joined to five other poems, which Auden titled, Horae Canonicae (immolates vicerit), becoming the poet’s profound meditation for Good Friday, published as a cycle in The Shield of Achilles (1955), for which he received the National Book Award in 1956. Nones is a tour de force, reflecting the interior monologue (rendered contemporary with the modern reader of the poem) of mob members recently witness to and complicit in the crucifixion, nay murder, of the Savior. Leaving the scene and attempting to muster reintegration into the work-a-day world, Auden hints at a process of individuation that is more keenly attuned to the vicissitudes and tragedy of a fallen human nature.

Voluntary  Fantasie on VON GOTT WILL ICH NICHT LASSEN  Bert Matter (b. 1937)

The voluntary concluded, a period of silence is observed. All rise when the leader stands.

V.  In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.
R.  Amen.

The Dual Prayer  Recited in unison by all

Our Father, who art in heaven,
hallowed be thy Name,
thy kingdom come,
thy will be done,
on earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread.
And forgive us our trespasses,
as we forgive those who trespass against us.
And lead us not into temptation,
but deliver us from evil.
For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory,
for ever and ever. Amen.

Hail Mary, full of grace,
the Lord is with thee;
Blessed art thou amongst women,
and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, Jesus.
Holy Mary, Mother of God,
Pray for us sinners,
now and at the hour of our death. Amen.

V.  O God, make speed to help us.
R.  O Lord, make haste to help us.
V.  Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost;
R.  As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

The Psalter Portion

_Psalm 119:129–176_

In Hebrew, Psalm 119 constitutes an elaborate acrostic. Each of its 22 sections begins with a letter of the Hebrew alphabet in order. The portion appointed for None in ordinary time begins with the 17th letter, Pe. The traditional transliteration of the Hebrew letters indicating the sections have been retained.

*The leader and the people read the Psalm verses responsively (omitting the headings) by half verse (marked by the ) without pause. All join in reading the Antiphon and each Gloria Patri.

Antiphon

My eyes prevent the night watches, that I might be occupied in your words.

Pe Mirabilia

129 Your decrees are wonderful; *
therefore I obey them with all my heart.

130 When your word goes forth it gives light; *
it gives understanding to the simple.

131 I open my mouth and pant; *
I long for your commandments.

132 Turn to me in mercy, *
as you always do to those who love your Name.

133 Steady my footsteps in your word; *
let no iniquity have dominion over me.

134 Rescue me from those who oppress me, *
and I will keep your commandments.

135 Let your countenance shine upon your servant * and teach me your statutes.

136 My eyes shed streams of tears, *
because people do not keep your law.
Sadhe  Justus es, Domine 137 You are righteous, O Lord, * and upright are your judgments.
138 You have issued your decrees * with justice and in perfect faithfulness.
139 My indignation has consumed me, *
    because my enemies forget your words.
140 Your word has been tested to the uttermost, *
    and your servant holds it dear.
141 I am small and of little account, *
    yet I do not forget your commandments.
142 Your justice is an everlasting justice * and your law is the truth.
143 Trouble and distress have come upon me, *
    yet your commandments are my delight.
144 The righteousness of your decrees is everlasting; *
    grant me understanding, that I may live.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost:
    as it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

Qoph  Clamavi in toto corde meo 145 I call with my whole heart; *
    answer me, O Lord, that I may keep your statutes.
146 I call to you;
    oh, that you would save me! *
    I will keep your decrees.
147 Early in the morning I cry out to you, *
    for in your word is my trust.
148 My eyes are open in the night watches, *
    that I may meditate upon your promise.
149 Hear my voice, O Lord, according to your loving-kindness; *
    according to your judgments, give me life.
150 They draw near who in malice persecute me; *
    they are very far from your law.
151 You, O Lord, are near at hand, * and all your commandments are true.
152 Long have I known from your decrees * that you have established them for ever.

Resh  Vide humilitatem 153 Behold my affliction and deliver me, *
    for I do not forget your law.
154 Plead my cause and redeem me; *
    according to your promise, give me life.
155 Deliverance is far from the wicked, *
    for they do not study your statutes.
156 Great is your compassion, O Lord; *
    preserve my life, according to your judgments.
157 There are many who persecute and oppress me, *
    yet I have not swerved from your decrees.
I look with loathing at the faithless, *
for they have not kept your word.

See how I love your commandments! *
O Lord, in your mercy, preserve me.

The heart of your word is truth; *
all your righteous judgments endure for evermore.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost:
as it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

Shin  Principes persecuti sunt

Rulers have persecuted me without a cause, *
but my heart stands in awe of your word.

I am as glad because of your promise *
as one who finds great spoils.

As for lies, I hate and abhor them, *
but your law is my love.

Seven times a day do I praise you, *
because of your righteous judgments.

Great peace have they who love your law; *
for them there is no stumbling block.

I have hoped for your salvation, O Lord, *
and have fulfilled your commandments.

I have kept your decrees *
and I have loved them deeply.

I have kept your commandments and decrees, *
for all my ways are before you.

Taw  Appropinquet deprecatio

Let my cry come before you, O Lord; *
give me understanding, according to your word.

Let my supplication come before you; *
deriver me, according to your promise.

My lips shall pour forth your praise, *
when you teach me your statutes.

My tongue shall sing of your promise, *
for all your commandments are righteous.

Let your hand be ready to help me, *
for I have chosen your commandments.

I long for your salvation, O Lord, *
and your law is my delight.

Let me live, and I will praise you, *
and let your judgments help me.

I have gone astray like a sheep that is lost; *
search for your servant,
for I do not forget your commandments.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost:
as it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

The Little Chapter

What we know to be not possible,
Though time after time foretold
By wild hermits, by shaman and sybil
Gibbering in their trances,
Or revealed to a child in some chance rhyme
Like will and kill, comes to pass
Before we realize it: we are surprised
At the ease and speed of our deed
And uneasy: It is barely three,
Mid-afternoon, yet the blood
Of our sacrifice is already
Dry on the grass; we are not prepared
For silence so sudden and so soon;
The day is too hot, too bright, too still,
Too ever, the dead remains too nothing.
What shall we do till nightfall?

The wind has dropped and we have lost our public.
The faceless many who always Collect when any world is to be wrecked,
Blown up, burnt down, cracked open,
Felled, sawn in two, hacked through, torn apart,
Have all melted away: not one
Of these who in the shade of walls and trees
Lie sprawled now, calmly sleeping,
Harless as sheep, can remember why
He shouted or what about
So loudly in the sunshine this morning;
All if challenged would reply
—’It was a monster with one red eye,
A crowd that saw him die, not I.—
The hangman has gone to wash, the soldiers to eat;
We are left alone with our feat.

The Madonna with the green woodpecker,
The Madonna of the fig-tree,
The Madonna beside the yellow dam,
Turn their kind faces from us
And our projects under construction,
Look only in one direction,
Fix their gaze on our completed work:
Pile-driver, concrete-mixer,
Crane and pick-axe wait to be used again,
But how can we repeat this?
Outliving our act, we stand where we are,
As disregarded as some Discarded artifact of our own,
Like torn gloves, rusted kettles,
Abandoned branch-lines, worn lop-sided
Grindstones buried in nettles.
That, while we are thus away, our own wronged flesh
May work undisturbed, restoring
The order we try to destroy, the rhythm
We spoil out of spite: valves close
And open exactly, glands secrete,
Vessels contract and expand
At the right moment, essential fluids
Flow to renew exhausted cells,
Not knowing quite what has happened, but awed
By death like all the creatures
Now watching this spot, like the hawk looking down
Without blinking, the smug hens
Passing close by in their pecking order,
The bug whose view is balked by grass.
Or the deer who shyly from afar
Peer through chinks in the forest.

Silence is observed.

Meditation

The Brief Respond

All stand with the leader for the remainder of the Office.

V. But you, O Lord, have mercy upon us.

R. Thanks be to God.

V. I said, I will go up to the palm-tree.

R. I will take hold of the boughs thereof.

V. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost;

R. As it was in the beginning, is now, and will be for ever. Amen.

V. O death, I will be thy plagues.

R. O grave, I will be thy destruction.

The Salutation, Bidding, and Collect of the Day

V. The Lord be with you.

R. And with thy spirit.

V. Let us pray.

V. Lord, have mercy upon us.

R. Christ, have mercy upon us.

V. Lord, have mercy upon us.
Our Father, who art in heaven,
hallowed be thy Name,
thy kingdom come,
thy will be done,
on earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread.
And forgive us our trespasses,
as we forgive those who trespass against us.
And lead us not into temptation,
but deliver us from evil.
For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory,
for ever and ever. Amen.

V. Do not cast me away in old age.
R. Do not forsake me when my strength fails.
V. Do not hide not your face from me.
R. Lest I be like those that go down to the pit.
V. Enliven me, O Lord, for your Name’s sake.
R. And for your righteousness’ sake bring my soul out of trouble.

V. Lord, hear our prayer.
R. And let our cry come to you.
V. Let us pray.

O Lord Jesus Christ, for our sakes you trod the path of death: Make known to us the way of life; that, as you were reckoned with the transgressors in your death, and with the rich in your burial, so we, who are dead in trespasses and sins, may be raised up by you to the land of true riches, who lives and reigns with the Father and the Holy Ghost, one God, now and forever. Amen.

Here ends the Order for None.

In a week during which we have delighted in 1662 language that, normally, would have included prayers for the Queen’s Majesty (in this the 60th anniversary year of her coronation) and for the Royal Family (soon to be “prospered,” one hopes, by an additional heir to the throne), we Yanks approach a Eucharistic celebration that coincides with our own Independence Day a tad squeamishly. While the Collect of the Day and the readings enjoin social responsibility as the burden of hard-won liberties, we are ever mindful of the potential for a breach of the “wall of separation” the occasion presents. Those chary of jingoism veiled in religious cadences will find in this order of service a welcome respite. It seeks to highlight American contributions to the Anglican musical tradition by introducing a new setting of the Mass, a new hymn tune paired with a familiar text, recently-composed anthems and voluntaries and, yes, an American chestnut (Katharine Lee Bates’ “O beautiful for spacious skies”), but one inspired by the grandeur of Colorado’s own Pikes Peak.

The Denver Mass by Robert Lehman was commissioned by the Anglican Musicians Foundation for the AAM 2013 Denver Conference. The competition for a new tune for “Thou art the Way” was funded by the Anglican Musicians Foundation. The winning entry, named NORFOLK STREET, was composed by James Kennerley.

Hymn
Come, thou fountain of every blessing

Words: Robert Robinson (1735–1790)
Music: NETTLETON, A Repository of Sacred Music, Part Second, 1813

Celebrant Blessed be God: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.
People And blessed be his kingdom, now and for ever. Amen.

The Celebrant says
Almighty God, to you all hearts are open, all desires known, and from you no secrets are hid: Cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of your Holy Spirit, that we may perfectly love you, and worthily magnify your holy Name; through Christ our Lord. Amen.

First Lesson

Deuteronomy 10:17–21

The LORD your God is God of gods and Lord of lords, the great God, mighty and awesome, who is not partial and takes no bribe, who executes justice for the orphan and the widow, and who loves the strangers, providing them food and clothing. You shall also love the stranger, for you were strangers in the land of Egypt. You shall fear the LORD your God; him alone you shall worship; to him you shall hold fast, and by his name you shall swear. He is your praise; he is your God, who has done for you these great and awesome things that your own eyes have seen.

Psalm 145:1–10

Exaltabo te, Deus

Charles Villiers Stanford (1852–1924)

Antiphon by Bruce J. Barber II (b. 1960)

The Antiphon is sung by the choir and repeated by all. It is sung by all at the conclusion of the psalm.

1 I will exalt you, O God my King, * and bless your Name for ever and ever.

2 Every day will I bless you * and praise your Name for ever and ever.

3 Great is the LORD and greatly to be praised; *
there is no end to his greatness.

4 One generation shall praise your works to another * and shall declare your power.

5 I will ponder the glorious splendor of your majesty * and all your marvelous works.

6 They shall speak of the might of your wondrous acts, * and I will tell of your greatness.

7 They shall publish the remembrance of your great goodness; *
they shall sing of your righteous deeds.

8 The LORD is gracious and full of compassion, * slow to anger and of great kindness.

9 The LORD is loving to everyone * and his compassion is over all his works.

10 All your works praise you, O LORD, * and your faithful servants bless you.

Second Lesson

Hebrews 11:8–16

By faith Abraham obeyed when he was called to set out for a place that he was to receive as an inheritance; and he set out, not knowing where he was going. By faith he stayed for a time in the land he had been promised, as in a foreign land, living in tents, as did Isaac and Jacob, who were heirs with him of the same promise. For he looked forward to the city that has foundations, whose architect and builder is God. By faith he received power of procreation, even though he was too old—and Sarah herself was barren—because he considered him faithful who had promised. Therefore from one person, and this one as good as dead, descendants were born, “as many as the stars of heaven and as the innumerable grains of sand by the seashore.” All of these died in faith without having received the promises, but from a distance they saw and greeted them. They confessed that they were strangers and foreigners on the earth, for people who speak in this way make it clear that they are seeking a homeland. If they had been thinking of the land that they had left behind, they would have had opportunity to return. But as it is, they desire a better country, that is, a heavenly one. Therefore God is not ashamed to be called their God; indeed, he has prepared a city for them.

Gospel

Matthew 5:43–48

Then the Deacon or a Priest reads the Gospel, first saying

The Holy Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ according to Matthew.

People  Glory to you, Lord Christ.

Jesus said, “You have heard that it was said, ‘You shall love your neighbor and hate your enemy.’ But I say to you, Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, so that you may be children of your Father in heaven; for he makes his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the righteous and on the unrighteous. For if you love those who love you, what reward do you have? Do not even the tax collectors do the same? And if you greet only your brothers and sisters, what more are you doing than others? Do not even the Gentiles do the same? Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect.”

Reader  The Gospel of the Lord.
People  Praise to you, Lord Christ.

The Sermon

The Prayers of the People: Form IV

Deacon or other leader, all standing.

Let us pray for the Church and for the world.

Grant, Almighty God, that all who confess your Name may be united in your truth, live together in your love, and reveal your glory in the world.

Silence
Lord, in your mercy
Hear our prayer.

Guide the people of this land, and of all the nations, in the ways of justice and peace; that we may honor one another and serve the common good.

Silence
Lord, in your mercy
Hear our prayer.

Give us all a reverence for the earth as your own creation, that we may use its resources rightly in the service of others and to your honor and glory.

Silence
Lord, in your mercy
Hear our prayer.

Bless all whose lives are closely linked with ours, and grant that we may serve Christ in them, and love one another as he loves us.

Silence
Lord, in your mercy
Hear our prayer.
Comfort and heal all those who suffer in body, mind, or spirit; give them courage and hope in their troubles, and bring them the joy of your salvation.

Silence

Lord, in your mercy
Hear our prayer.

We commend to your mercy all who have died, especially members of AAM departed in the last year, Russell J. Brydon, Jr., Charlotte Zartman, Donald L. Smith, William A. Bottom, George Tobias, and John McCreary, that your will for them may be fulfilled; and we pray that we may share with all your saints in your eternal kingdom.

Silence

Lord, in your mercy
Hear our prayer.

The Celebrant adds a concluding Collect.

The people sit as the officers of AAM gather at the chancel steps.

Installation of Officers of the Association of Anglican Musicians

A designated Past President addresses the Membership

Sisters and Brothers in Christ Jesus, we are all baptized by the one Spirit into one Body and given gifts for a variety of ministries for the common good. Our purpose here is to commission these persons as the Board of the Association of Anglican Musicians.

The Past President then addresses the Chaplain

Right Reverend Father in God, I present to you these persons to be admitted to the ministry of Officers of the Association of Anglican Musicians.

Officers

David commanded the chief of the Levites to appoint musicians who should play loudly on musical instruments, on harps and lyres and cymbals, to raise sounds of joy.

Past President

When the song was raised in the praise of the Lord:

Membership

The glory of the Lord filled the house of God.

The Chaplain addresses the Membership

You have elected those who stand before you to serve as the Board of the Association of Anglican Musicians. Do you believe them to be prepared by a commitment to Jesus Christ, by regular attendance at worship, by a commitment to strengthen the music and worship of this Communion through liturgy and music, and by a willing heart to serve this Association in this ministry?

Membership

We do.

Chaplain

Will you support them in this ministry and uphold them in your prayers?

Membership

We will.
The Chaplain addresses the Officers

You have been called to serve in this ministry. Will you perform it with diligence?

Officers We will.

Chaplain Will you faithfully execute your duties to the honor of God and the benefit of this Association?

Officers We will.

All stand to pray.

Chaplain Let us pray.

A brief period of silence is observed.

O Lord Jesus Christ, whose glory the cherubim and seraphim and all the hosts of heaven with ceaseless voice proclaim; Hear and accept, we pray, the praises of your Church below, and pour down upon your ministers in choir and sanctuary such a spirit of faith, reverence, and joy as shall lift both their hymns and their lives to you. Grant to these officers of the Association of Anglican Musicians the faith to seek your will for their task of guiding this Association in its work, and the wisdom to seek and recognize your call in the life of it. Strengthen also, we pray, those who form the membership of this Association that they may be steadfast in support of their chosen leaders. Dedicate us all anew this day, and grant us to know you that we may truly love you, and to love you that we may fully serve you, whom to serve is perfect freedom; who lives and reigns with the Father and the Holy Spirit, now and for ever. Amen.

The people sit.

The Chaplain then addresses each of the Officers in turn, saying

N., I commission you as _____ in the Association of Anglican Musicians, in the name of the Father, + and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

The Peace

The Celebrant says to the people

The peace of the Lord be always with you.

People And also with you.
The Holy Communion

The people sit.

Anthem
Thou, O God, Art Praised in Sion
Malcolm Boyle (1902–1976)

Thou, O God, art praised in Sion, and unto thee shall the vow be performed in Jerusalem.
Thou that hearest the prayer, unto thee shall all flesh come.
Blessed is the one whom thou choosest and receivest unto thee.
They shall dwell in thy courts and shall be satisfied with the pleasures of thy house, e’en of thy holy temple.

Thou wilt keep them in perfect peace whose minds are stayed on thee.
Thou wilt keep them in perfect peace because they trust in thee.
Trust ye in the Lord for ever,
for in the Lord, the Lord Jehovah is everlasting strength.

Let the people praise thee, O God, yea, let all the people praise thee.
Then shall the earth bring forth her increase:
and God shall give us his blessing.
— Psalm 65:1, 2, 4; Isaiah 26:3, 4; Psalm 67:3, 6, 7

All stand for the presentation of the people’s offerings of bread and wine.

The Great Thanksgiving

Eucharistic Prayer B

Then the Celebrant proceeds

It is right, and a good and joyful thing, always and everywhere to give thanks to you, Father Almighty, Creator of heaven and earth.

For with your co-eternal Son and Holy Spirit, you are one God, one Lord, in Trinity of Persons and in Unity of Being; and we celebrate the one and equal glory of you, O Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit.

Therefore we praise you, joining our voices with Angels and Archangels and with all the company of heaven, who for ever sing this hymn to proclaim the glory of your Name:
Holy, holy, holy
Robert Lehman

The people stand or kneel.

Then the Celebrant continues

We give thanks to you, O God, for the goodness and love which you have made known to us in creation; in the calling of Israel to be your people; in your Word spoken through the prophets; and above all in the Word made flesh, Jesus, your Son. For in these last days you sent him to be incarnate from the Virgin Mary, to be the Savior and Redeemer of the world. In him, you have delivered us from evil, and made us worthy to stand before you. In him, you have brought us out of error into truth, out of sin into righteousness, out of death into life.

On the night before he died for us, our Lord Jesus Christ took bread; and when he had given thanks to you, he broke it, and gave it to his disciples, and said, “Take, eat: This is my Body, which is given for you. Do this for the remembrance of me.”

After supper he took the cup of wine; and when he had given thanks, he gave it to them, and said, “Drink this, all of you: This is my Blood of the new Covenant, which is shed for you and for many for the forgiveness of sins. Whenever you drink it, do this for the remembrance of me.”

Therefore, according to his command, O Father,

Celebrant and People
We remember his death,
We proclaim his resurrection,
We await his coming in glory;

The Celebrant continues
And we offer our sacrifice of praise and thanksgiving to you, O Lord of all; presenting to you, from your creation, this bread and this wine.

We pray you, gracious God, to send your Holy Spirit upon these gifts that they may be the Sacrament of the Body of Christ and his Blood of the new Covenant. Unite us to your Son in his sacrifice, that we may be acceptable through him, being sanctified by the Holy Spirit. In the fullness of time, put all things in subjection under your Christ, and bring us to that heavenly country where, with the Blessed Virgin Mary, Saint John the Evangelist, patron of this Cathedral Church, and all your saints, we may enter the everlasting heritage of your sons and daughters; through Jesus Christ our Lord, the firstborn of all creation, the head of the Church, and the author of our salvation.
By him, and with him, and in him, in the unity of the Holy Spirit all honor and glory is yours, Almighty Father, now and for ever. AMEN.

And now, as our Savior Christ has taught us, we are bold to say,

People and Celebrant

Our Father, who art in heaven,
    hallowed be thy Name,
    thy kingdom come,
    thy will be done,
    on earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread.
And forgive us our trespasses,
as we forgive those who trespass against us.
And lead us not into temptation,
but deliver us from evil.
For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory,
for ever and ever. Amen.

The Breaking of the Bread

The Celebrant breaks the consecrated Bread.
A period of silence is kept.

Christ our Passover

Robert Lehman

Facing the people, the Celebrant says the following Invitation

The Gifts of God for the People of God.

Hymn

Jerusalem, my happy home
Hymn Thou art the Way, to thee alone

Words: George Washington Doane (1799–1859), alt.

After the hymn, the Celebrant says

Let us pray.

Celebrant and People

Almighty and everliving God, we thank you for feeding us with the spiritual food of the most precious Body and Blood of your Son our Savior Jesus Christ; and for assuring us in these holy mysteries that we are living members of the Body of your Son, and heirs of your eternal kingdom.
And now, Father, send us out to do the work you have given us to do, to love and serve you
as faithful witnesses of Christ our Lord.
To him, to you, and to the Holy Spirit,
be honor and glory, now and for ever. Amen.

The Bishop may bless the people.

Celebrant   Our help is in the Name of the Lord;
People      The maker of heaven and earth,
Celebrant   Blessed be the Name of the Lord;
People      From this time forth for evermore.

The Bishop says the blessing.

Simon Baldwin
Workshop Presenter
Charter Travel has become a trusted partner for AAM members during the past 27 years and assisted the Association with the 1997 convention in Oxford and the 2007 convention in Durham. The business is still very loyal to its roots, still a family business, still only working with American choral groups and still only working in the British Isles. Not over-stretching themselves to the continent and not pretending to be all things to all people, Charter Travel is very experienced at what they do and are the first port of call for many American Choral Directors when planning Cathedral residencies.

The company has grown during the past 30 years and the partnership with AAM has flourished by offering a unique ground handling service to members who wish to bring their choirs to the British Isles.

Bruce J. Barber II
Conference Schola Director
Bruce J. Barber II was appointed Director of Cathedral Music of St James Cathedral, Chicago, in January 2004. Prior to joining the staff of St. James, he served as Canon Precentor & Director of Cathedral Music at the Cathedral Church of St. John, the Diocese of the Rio Grande, Albuquerque, New Mexico, for 10 years.

As an orchestral musician, Barber has performed with the New Haven Symphony Orchestra, the Florida Symphony Orchestra, the New Mexico Symphony Orchestra, and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under the direction of such notable maestros as Riccardo Muti, Bernard Haitink, James Conlon, David Zinman, Helmut Rilling, Semyon Byshkov, Charles Dutoit, and Michael Tilson Thomas. An avid conductor, he has conducted a wide range of sacred music, orchestral literature, and concerto repertoire ranging from Bach to Beethoven, Haydn and Mozart, Brahms to Duruflé, Bernstein, and Stravinsky.

In 2010, the Cathedral Choir of St. James Cathedral released its first recording in over 25 years under his direction—Arise, Shine! (MSR Classics)—which has garnered high praise in national reviews. He made two CD recordings with the Musicians of St. Johns Cathedral, To the Creator of Light: Choral Music from the Cathedral Church of St. John and All This Time: Music for Advent and Christmas.

Trained as a choral and orchestral conductor, an organist and cellist, Barber holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida, and a Master of Music Degree from the Yale School of Music and the Yale Institute of Sacred Music. His primary teachers have included Alexander Anderson (Rollins), Robert S. Baker and Gerre Hancock (Yale).

Diane Caruso
Panel Discussion Participant

Diane Caruso received her Bachelor of Music degree from Kentucky Wesleyan College, and her Master of Music degree from Westminster Choir College. She has been the Director of Music for Trinity Church, Asbury Park, New Jersey, since July 2005. At Trinity, Diane has expanded the music program substantially. She rebuilt the Adult Choir and founded the Trinity Choristers, an after-school outreach initiative, which provides homework help, free piano lessons, and mentoring for children from ages 5–17. The Choristers are also an active choir of the parish, regularly singing Eucharistic services and Evensong both on their own and with the Adult Choir. The program is affiliated with and active in the Royal School of Church Music.

Abbi Chapman
Conference Committee

A soprano soloist and seasoned ensemble singer originally from mid-coast Maine, Abigail (Abbi) Chapman has performed lead roles in opera, oratorio, and musical theater, and has sung with choirs that specialize in Anglican music for fifteen years. Abbi lived and sang in New York City from 2001 until her move to Denver in 2007; she has also performed elsewhere in the United States and overseas. An enthusiastic advocate of contemporary music, she has given the premieres of works by a number of composers, some of which were written for her. In Colorado, she is a regular soloist and professional staff singer at Saint John’s Cathedral, has given a variety of song recitals, and has performed as a soloist and ensemble member with a number of Colorado’s premiere ensembles. Recent solo work has taken her from the chants of Hildegard von Bingen and chamber music of Ciconia to operas of Blow and Purcell; from sacred works by Schütz and Biber to oratorios of Stradella and Handel; from Bach cantatas to Brahms’ Liebeslieder Waltz. Also an experienced administrator, Abbi is Administrative Assistant to Music at Saint John’s Cathedral and Secretary on the Board of Directors of the Baroque Chamber Orchestra of Colorado.

Barbara Cawthorne Crafton
Conference Preacher

Barbara Cawthorne Crafton is an Episcopal priest and author. She heads The Geranium Farm, an institute for the promotion of spiritual growth. The Farm publishes her Almost-Daily eMo, a meditation read online by tens of thousands worldwide via e-mail. She is currently interim rector of St. Luke’s Episcopal Church in Metuchen, New Jersey, and has served a number of churches, including historic Trinity Church, Wall Street, St. John’s-in-the-Village in Greenwich Village, and St. Clement’s in Manhattan’s theatre district. She was a maritime chaplain on the New York waterfront, and served as a chaplain at Ground Zero after the attack on the World Trade Center. She also served at St. James, the American church in Florence, Italy. A spiritual director, Crafton leads retreats and teaches throughout the United States and abroad.

Her many books include books of essays (The Sewing Room, Yes! We’ll Gather at the River, Some Things You Just have to Live With), books of daily meditations (Let Us Bless the Lord, Volumes 1–4), Meditations on the Psalms, Finding Time for Serenity, and several others; a book of poetry (Blessed Paradoxes), a book about the current wars in Iraq and Afghanistan in the aftermath of the World Trade Center bombing (Mass in Time of War) and, most recently, a book about how people of faith experience depression (Jesus Wept: When Faith and Depression Meet).

An actress, director, and producer, Crafton has worked for many years in combining the lively arts and the life of faith. Her books, articles, and radio scripts have won many awards, including numerous Polly Bond Awards from Episcopal Communicators and the coveted Gabriel Award for religious broadcasting. She is seen frequently on television both as a preacher and as a commentator on Hallmark’s “New Morning” and “America at Worship.” Crafton is married to Richard Quaintance and has two children and two grandchildren.
Brian Driscoll
Workshop Presenter

Originally from Ohio, Brian Driscoll received a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in music composition from California Institute of the Arts, and Master of Music and Doctor of Musical Arts degrees in organ performance from the University of California, Los Angeles. Since 2005, he has been the director of music at the Church of the Epiphany, Oak Park (Los Angeles area), where he directs four choirs and oversees the Epiphany Music Guild concert series. In August 2011, Brian became the artistic director of Oaks Camerata, a chamber vocal ensemble in the Conejo Valley. Brian is an adjunct faculty member at Santa Monica College where he teaches musicianship, theory, and composition.

Kate Eaton
Workshop Presenter

Kate Eaton has deep family roots in Colorado and in the Episcopal Church. She has traveled widely and has a passion for people, music and culture from all over the world. While pursuing a rigorous non-profit development career, which included raising $4.5 million for Habitat for Humanity International, Kate joined a small group of people who were involved in beginning a new Sunday evening worship service called the Wilderness.

She created a world music sound and introduced vintage saris, projected images, icons, found objects, ambient lighting and interactive places for prayer to support each season. She created a body of music, including hymns, prayers and original compositions, which are recorded on her CD, ARISE, New Music for Worship, released in 2009.

In the Fall of 2009, Kate led the creation of a liturgy for the convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Colorado. The service was a huge success. Many priests and lay people expressed interest in developing services in their own congregations. Soon Kate was receiving invitations to help others with their worship. So Kate founded Mishkhah in January of 2010 to partner with churches, seminaries, organizations and individuals who are interested in creating worship environments that invite people into rest, beauty, peace, wonder and a renewed relationship with God.

Peter Eaton
Officiant for Sunday Evensong
Celebrant for Monday Eucharist

Father Peter Eaton is an Episcopal priest and has been the Dean of Saint John’s Cathedral, Denver, Colorado, since January 2002. Saint John’s Cathedral is an urban cathedral with a large, active, growing congregation. The Cathedral is known, among other things, for its ground-breaking interfaith program, the Abrahamic Initiative, for its innovative new worshiping community, the Wilderness, and for identifying and fostering young leaders. Father Eaton is an experienced and committed congregational pastor, and is a mentor to clergy and lay leaders across the Church.

Father Eaton also serves as an adjunct faculty member at the Iliff School of Theology, where he has taught courses in Anglican theology and liturgy since 2005. He is a former Scholar-in-Residence at the School of Theology in Sewanee, Tennessee, and he was in the first class of Fellows in the Christian Leadership Initiative at the Shalom Hartman Institute in Jerusalem in 2008.

Before coming to the Cathedral, Father Eaton served congregations in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, Salt Lake City, Utah, and Maidstone, Kent, in the UK. From 1989 to 1991, he was Fellows’ Chaplain of Magdalen College, Oxford, and before ordination he was the Pastoral Assistant at Saint George’s Church, Paris, France. He was ordained to diaconate by his uncle, the late Bishop Francisco Reus-Froylán, the first Latino Bishop of Puerto Rico, in San Juan in 1986, and to the priesthood by the late Archbishop Robert Runcie in Canterbury Cathedral in 1987. Father Eaton holds degrees in Classics from the University of London, and Theology from the University of Cambridge.

Father Eaton was born in Washington DC, and was raised in Connecticut, Barbados, Puerto Rico, and London. His father, Wade Eaton, was also a priest, and he taught at Credington College, Barbados, and at the Episcopal Seminary and the Seminario Evangélico in Puerto Rico. Father Eaton is married to Kate, who is a professional fundraiser and a singer/song-writer. She is the Founder of Mishkhah, an organization that helps congregations establish new worshiping communities and expand their worship life.
Joseph Galema
Conference Committee Co-Chairman
Recitalist at University of Denver Concert

Joseph Galema began his career at the United States Air Force Academy in September 1982 and is currently Music Director and Academy Organist. He directs the Cadet Chorale and The Academy Singers, and also plays the organ for hundreds of services in the Cadet Chapel. In September 2008, he joined the Lamont School of Music, University of Denver, as organ instructor. At Lamont, he teaches private lessons to organ majors in addition to classes on organ repertoire, organ improvisation, and organ accompanying.

Galema was born in West Lafayette, Indiana, and chose to pursue his college education in Michigan. He received a Bachelor of Arts (1976) degree from Calvin College in Grand Rapids. He pursued post-graduate work in organ performance, studying with Marilyn Mason at The University of Michigan, earning both Master of Music (1978) and Doctor of Musical Arts (1982) degrees.

A critically-acclaimed organ soloist, Galema has toured throughout the United States, England, France, Scandinavia, and the Baltic States. He has also performed at Region VI AGO Conventions, at an Organ Historical Society National Convention, at an American Institute of Organ Builders’ National Convention, at Association of Anglican Musicians Conferences, for the national biennial convocation of the Fellowship of United Methodists in Music and Worship Arts, and at an annual conference of the Hymn Society in the United States and Canada.

James Garvey
Organist for Opening Eucharist

James Garvey has been the organist and director of music at the Church of the Ascension in Knoxville, Tennessee since 1990, where he directs a full choir program involving adults and children and administers an acclaimed concert series.

He holds degrees from Rice University, where he studied organ with Clyde Holloway and piano with Mary Norris. From 1985–1990 he was the assistant organist to Don Pearson at Saint John’s Cathedral in Denver. He has performed for both national and regional conventions of the American Guild of Organists, has taught at regional Pipe Organ Encounters, and has adjudicated numerous AGO competitions. He is past dean of the Knoxville Chapter of the AGO, and most recently held the office of Secretary in the AAM.

Lucas Grubbs
Officiant at Wednesday Office of None

Father Lucas was raised in Lewiston, Idaho and attended the University of Idaho where he earned his B.A. in Spanish. In 2005 he earned an M.Div. from Yale Divinity School and in 2007 an S.T.M. in Liturgical Studies from Yale’s Institute of Sacred Music. Fr. Lucas has served Christ Church, New Haven as Curate; St. Michael’s Cathedral, Boise as Canon Pastor; and now serves as the 10th rector of Church of the Ascension in Denver. In his work, Fr. Lucas focuses highly on the spiritual well-being of the congregation through pastoral care, strong liturgy and preaching, and Christian formation through adult education. He is passionate about being available to the congregation in the good and difficult times and sees the parish church as a family that is ever growing, changing, and learning to follow in the footsteps of Jesus Christ.

Victor Hill
Panel Discussion Moderator

Victor Hill has been a member of AAM since 1979 and is attending his thirty-fifth consecutive Annual Conference. He began serving as Archivist of the Association even before the office was created for him in 1982, and held that post until 2011. He remains on the Editorial Board of the Journal. He graduated from Carnegie Mellon University and then received both his Ph.D. in Mathematics and the Performer’s Certificate in Harpsichord from the University of Oregon. Dr. Hill is the Thomas T. Read Professor of Mathematics, Emeritus, at Williams College, where he also taught English literature and had his own concert series for forty years. He was organist-choirmaster at St. John’s Episcopal Church in Williamstown, Massachusetts, from 1972 to 1996. He studied organ with Vernon de Tar and harpsichord with Gustav Leonhardt and John Hamilton, and has played concerts throughout the United States and in Europe.
Gerald W. Holbrook
Anthem Reading Session Coordinator

Gerald W. Holbrook holds a Doctoral degree in organ performance from University of Nebraska-Lincoln and a Masters degree in piano performance from Roosevelt University in Chicago. He has performed with several mid-west symphony orchestras, sung and recorded with the William Ferris Chorale, and performed in Moscow while on tour with the Abendmusik chorus. With over 30 years experience in choral music he also has an interest in Gregorian chant, gives workshops around the country in this ancient genre and has three recordings to his credit. As a composer, he focuses on sacred choral music. Some of his recent works have been performed by San Francisco’s noted Schola Cantorum. Prior to his move to Colorado, he taught organ at Union College in Lincoln, Nebraska, and Gregorian Chant at Our Lady of Guadalupe Seminary. Recent performances include performing with The Rocky Mountain Brassworks, the Boulder Mahler Festival Orchestra, Fort Collins Symphony, Seicento Baroque Ensemble, The Colorado Chamber Orchestra, and St. Luke’s Episcopal Church Bach Festival in Fort Collins. He currently is the organist at First United Methodist Church in Boulder, the Chorus Master and Director of Educational Outreach for Opera Fort Collins, and District Convener (Colorado) for The American Guild of Organists.

Mark Howe
Panel Discussion Participant

Mark Howe has served as Canon Precentor and Director of Music at St. Paul’s Cathedral in Burlington, Vermont since 1999. His duties there include playing the organ for two sung liturgies each Sunday and training and directing the Cathedral’s choirs, one of which is a successful treble choir of boys and girls in grades three through 12. He has also been active in the Cathedral Arts concert series, acted as Guest Conductor of the Burlington Choral Society, and has given lecture-recitals at the University of Vermont and elsewhere in Vermont.

He has served in Episcopal parishes in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Illinois, and New York; and has taught, either as regular, adjunct, or visiting faculty member, at Seabury-Western Theological Seminary, Yale University (the Divinity School and the Institute of Sacred Music), and McGill University, among others.

Mark’s Bachelor’s and Master’s degrees in organ are from Westminster Choir College and Yale University respectively, and he holds a Ph.D. in musicology from New York University. His organ teachers were Harriette Slack Richardson, William Hays, and Thomas Murray.

Peggy Haas Howell
Panel Discussion Participant

Peggy Haas Howell is the Organist and Choirmaster at St. John’s Episcopal Church, Lynchburg, Virginia, where she directs choirs of children, youth, and adults. She recently played the dedicatory recital on a new 3-manual mechanical action organ at St. John’s built by her husband, Richard Howell. The St. John’s Parish Choir, in a collaboration with The Parish of St. Matthew, Palisades Park, California, was in residence at Winchester Cathedral, Winchester, England for a week in 2011. In the summer of 2015, St. John’s Choir will be in residence at Wells Cathedral and St. David’s Cathedral, Wales. Ms. Howell directs a community children’s choir, Cantate, the Children’s and Youth Choir of Central Virginia, and is an adjunct faculty member at Sweet Briar College, where she teaches organ.

Peggy Howell is well-known as an organ recitalist in the United States and Europe. She has won top prizes in many organ playing competitions, including first prize in the National Young Artists Organ Playing Competition of the American Guild of Organists (1974), and a shared top prize in St. Alban’s International Organ Interpretation Competition in England (1977). Before moving to Lynchburg, Virginia in 1996, Ms. Howell taught organ for ten years at Peabody Conservatory of Johns Hopkins University.

Ms. Howell graduated from Susquehanna University with a Bachelor of Arts in Church Music degree, and from Union Theological Seminary, New York City, with a Master of Sacred Music degree. Her organ teachers have included Harald Vogel, Cherry Rhodes, Heinz Wunderlich, Charles Dodsley Walker, and James Boeringer.
Holly Hoxeng
Conference Committee

Holly Hoxeng was born into church music. By profession a real estate paralegal and bilingual librarian, Holly is by avocation a musician. After studying music in college, Holly moved to Denver, where she was an integral part of the music and worship at Saint John’s Cathedral for almost 30 years. These days you will find her worshiping and making music at a small Presbyterian church, where Anglicanism can be found creeping into the worship services!

James Kennerley
Hymn Competition Winner

Hailed as “a great organist” with “phenomenal technique and sheer musicality” (Bloomberg News), James Kennerley is a multi-faceted musician, working as a conductor, organist, singer, coach, and educator. A native of the United Kingdom, he has been Organist and Music Director at the Church of Saint Mary the Virgin, Times Square, since 2008, where he directs the professional choir and coordinates the church’s expansive concert series.

He was recently announced as one of the semi-finalists for the Longwood Gardens International Organ Competition, to be held this June. In addition to solo concerts, Mr. Kennerley frequently collaborates with groups such as the Voices of Ascension, New York City Master Chorale, and Greenwich Choral Society. He has studied the organ with David Sanger, Thomas Trotter, and McNeil Robinson, and holds the Fellowship of the Royal College of Organists diploma. Lauded as an “excellent, true-toned tenor” by New Yorker critic Alex Ross, Kennerley has performed as a soloist and in collaboration with many groups, including concerts with the choir of Trinity, Wall Street, TENET, Amor Artis, Sonnambula, the 4 x 4 Festival and Clarion Music Society. He has studied with Robert Rice, David Lowe, and Braeden Harris, and was a semi-finalist in the 2013 New York Oratorio Society’s singing competition.

Kennerley is increasingly in demand as a composer, and has had some twenty works premiered this season. Much of his music is for choral groups, and his Lauda Novella, for voice, baroque string quartet and chamber organ, was premiered by countertenor Ryland Angel as part of Trinity Wall Street’s Twelfth Night Festival in December 2012.

Karen Knowles
Conference Committee

In life outside the 2013 Denver Conference, Karen is in her 30th year practicing interior design of commercial and residential projects. She became familiar with the world of the church musician from her parents, graduates of Westminster Choir College, who served various churches in the Midwest as music director and organist. In 1998 when she was introduced to the RSCM in America and its offering of summer training courses—Karen helped Stephen Tappe establish and co-manage the RSCM America Summer Training Course for Boys and Adults at Trinity Episcopal Church in Tulsa, Oklahoma, until moving to Denver at the end of 2004. She served on the RSCM America Board of Directors from 2004–2009, and from 2005–2009 she and Stephen co-managed a summer training course for girls and adults in Denver. She has two grown sons, both of whom are musicians. Having fallen in love with Colorado years ago, Karen enjoys welcoming visitors to this beautiful state.

Timothy J. Krueger
Director, St. Martin’s Chamber Choir
Choirmaster, Daily Choral Matins

Timothy J. Krueger studied musicology at the Wheaton Conservatory of Music, the University of Colorado, Boulder, the Universität Hamburg, Germany, and the University of London’s Royal Holloway College, where his doctoral dissertation was on the sacred music of Charles Villiers Stanford. Deke will be in to Paris this July to study organ with Marie-Louise Langlais as part of a sabbatical.

Liz Raedeke
Conference Committee

Liz Raedeke was born in Pontefract, Yorkshire, England in 1947. The daughter of a Church of England vicar and Sunday School teacher, Liz was singing in a church choir by the age of 4. As a young girl she studied singing in Leeds with Madame Stiles-Allen, whose most famous pupil was Julie Andrews. Liz was educated at a Church of England boarding school and at age 16 was accepted into the Royal Academy of Music in London, where she studied singing under Dame Eva Turner. She left the Academy to join the D’Oyly Carte Opera Company where she sang for a number of years and toured throughout Great Britain, the United States and Canada. Later, she became a production assistant with BBC Radio Three, which led her to become Manager of the 1973/1974 Faraday Lecture, sponsored by the Institute of Electrical Engineers. The lecturer that year was the Managing Director of an American computer company, for which she continued to work in London. Liz met her Oklahoma-born husband at work and in 1978 they moved to Boulder, Colorado, where Liz continued to work in the computing field. In 1988, Liz moved into the Financial Services industry where she held a number of management positions. When the President of the company resigned she followed him and became Development Director of his family foundation. Liz retired in 2008 and now lives in Denver with her husband, Arlin. A member of St. John’s Cathedral, Liz continues to enjoy her Anglican music heritage.

John Repulski
Organist for Closing Eucharist

John Repulski is Director of Music at Christ Church Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, where he directs the highly regarded Christ Church Cranbrook Choir, manages a vigorous concert series, and oversees a staff of supporting musicians. His sabbatical study researching emergent worship musical practices resulted in his co-founding of Lex Orandi, a post-millennial liturgy lab and worship community. He is past dean of the Detroit Chapter of the AGO and an active member of AAM. John is currently on the Standing Commission on Liturgy and Music of the Episcopal Church and served as host and coordinator for Everybody Sings! The SCLM Consultation on Music and Liturgy in August 2012.

Before arriving at CCC, his most notable tenure was as associate organist at St. John’s Episcopal Cathedral in Denver. His other appointments have been St. Paul Lutheran Church in Denver, Trinity Episcopal in Bloomington, Indiana, and Church of the Nativity in Indianapolis. John served as adjunct faculty at Iliff School of Theology in Denver teaching courses in music and liturgy with Tom Troeger. He holds a Master’s Degree in Organ and Church Music from Indiana University studying organ with Marilyn Keiser, and a Masters in Theory and Composition from Butler University. Throughout his 40 years of church music work, John has been involved in leadership in a number of conferences including the prestigious Evergreen Church Music Conference, the Leadership Program for Musicians’ Summer Conference, and the Mississippi Conference on Church Music and Liturgy. In addition to being a conductor, organ recitalist, pianist, and liturgist, he is also a published composer, arranger, and producer/recording engineer. John is best known for his innovative and eclectic approach to church music and his ability to incorporate a wide variety of musical styles into the liturgical setting.

Richard Robertson began his musical training at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa. In 1978, he received his Bachelor’s degree from Simpson College in Indianola, Iowa, where he studied organ with Robert Burns. He continued his studies at the Manhattan School of Music in New York City, studying organ with Frederick Swann. In 1980, he continued graduate studies in organ with Joan Lippincott and choral music with Joseph Flummerfelt at Westminster Choir College in Princeton, New Jersey, graduating in 1986. In 1986, he was a national finalist in the American Guild of Organists National Young Artists Competition. Richard has held church positions in New York City; Atlanta, Georgia; Clearwater, Florida; and Denver, Colorado. He is currently Organist and Music Director at Church of the Holy Ghost in Denver. From 2005–2012 he was Organist and Assistant Director of Music at Saint John’s Episcopal Cathedral in Denver.

Blake Sawicky
Conference Committee

The Rev. Blake Sawicky is University Chaplain at Brown University in Providence, Rhode Island. He also serves as Curate at Saint Stephen’s Episcopal Church. Fr. Sawicky received his B.A. cum laude from Wheaton College in Illinois in 2006. He then earned his M.A. from University College, London, with first class honours, in the field of maritime archeology. His archeological research in Cyprus was subsequently published. After earning an M.Div. at Berkeley Divinity School at Yale, he was ordained deacon in the Diocese of Albany. He won the prize his first year for the highest academic achievement in the class, and he spent a term studying at Cambridge University during his middle year. He was ordained a priest in January 2009 at Saint John’s Cathedral, Denver where he served as curate until May 2013.

Tamara Schmiege
Region VI Chair

Tamara Schmiege is Director of Music and Organist at St. Luke’s Episcopal Church, Fort Collins, Colorado. Dr. Schmiege is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music (B.M.), Indiana University (M.M.) and the University of Michigan (D.M.A.). Her teachers have included David Craighead, Robert Glasgow, Marilyn Mason, Russell Saunders, Larry Smith and Christopher Young. Dr. Schmiege served as professor of organ at the University of the Incarnate Word, San Antonio, Texas, from 2001 through 2005 and was an instructor in the Leadership Program for Church Musicians while in Texas. She serves as AAM Region VI Chair.
Daniel Stipe
Organist for St. Martin’s Chamber Choir Concert

Equally at home as a solo recitalist, collaborator, and arranger on both the piano and the organ, Daniel Stipe’s broad array of abilities lends a rare depth of understanding and excitement to his music-making. He is a prizewinner in the William Hall Pipe Organ Competition in San Antonio (where he also garnered the Hymn-playing Prize), the Tulsa Crescendo Music Awards, the Fort Wayne National Organ Playing Competition, and the AGO/Quimby Region VII Competition for Young Organists. He maintains an active concert schedule, with recent performances in Tulsa, Cape May, Nashville, Chattanooga, Knoxville, Princeton, and New York City.

Daniel, a native of Tulsa, Oklahoma, earned bachelor’s degrees in organ and piano performance from the University of North Texas, and a master’s degree in organ performance from Westminster Choir College. His teachers include Casey Cantwell, Jess Eschbach, Ken Cowan, Elwyn Ratliff, Aldo Mancinelli and Adam Wodnicki. He was recently appointed Director of Music at Trinity Lutheran Church in Richmond, Virginia, where he supports a vibrant program of traditional liturgical music. He maintains an active concert schedule, with recent performances in Tulsa, Cape May, Nashville, Chattanooga, Knoxville, Princeton, and New York City.

Thomas Strickland
Conference Committee

A native of Indianapolis, Tom was educated at the Indiana University School of Music and the Institute of Sacred Music at Yale University where his organ teachers were Clyde Holloway and Gerre Hancock, respectively. He has held a number of church positions, notably thirteen years in Burlington, Vermont, as Canon Precentor and Music Director at the Cathedral Church of St. Paul and Director of the Burlington Oratorio Society. Before that, he served as Jack Ossewaarde’s last assistant at St. Bartholomew’s Church in New York City. Moving to Chicago in 1995, he became a music and hymnal editor for World Library Publications, a publisher of liturgical resources for the Roman Catholic Church and choral and keyboard music. He is primarily responsible for hymnody and psalmody and served as Project Manager for revisions of the We Celebrate Hymnal and the People’s Mass Book. He telecommutes from home in Aurora, Colorado.

Active as a member of The Hymn Society in the United States and Canada, Tom has been a featured performer at three national conferences. He was a consultant to the Leadership Program for Musicians Serving Small Congregations, serving as editor of the curriculum for a number of years. In the American Guild of Organists, he has been an officer of five different chapters. Tom is an occasional member of the Adjunct Faculty at the Iliff School of Theology in Denver and organist for the St. Bede Episcopal Community there. He is music director at St. Luke’s in Denver, following a period at St. Peter and St. Mary in Denver. In 1900, St. Peter’s recruited thirteen-year-old David McK. Williams from the choir at St. John’s for his first job as an organist.

Stephen Tappe
Director for Choral Evensong

Stephen Tappe is a composer, conductor, organist, liturgist, and choral clinician. As a choir trainer, his specialty is working with boy choirs and girl choirs. He was appointed Organist and Director of Music at Saint John’s Cathedral, Denver, in 2004. Degrees in Composition, Organ Performance, and Liturgy were earned at the Hart School of Music, the Yale School of Music, and the Yale Divinity School, respectively.

Tappe has served, in various official capacities, the Association of Anglican Musicians, the Royal School of Church Music in America, the American Guild of Organists, and the General Board of Examining Chaplains of the Episcopal Church. He feels particularly honored to have managed three organ restoration projects—a 1929 IV/49 E. M. Skinner, an 1869 II/14 E. & G. G. Hook, and a 1938 IV/96 W. W. Kimball.
Susan Tattershall
Conference Committee

Susi Tattershall has been active in organ restoration since her apprenticeship in Spain in the 1970s. Specializing in the organ building traditions of the Iberian peninsula, most of her restoration work has been in Mexico. She also has wide experience with 19th-century American organs, and, with Richard Hamar as lead restorer, organized the restoration of the 1869 E. and G.G. Hook organ at Saint John’s Cathedral, Denver. Over 35 volunteers contributed 1400 hours of work in the summer of 2009, with Susi contributing another 600 hours. Currently Susi is involved with an organ project in Bolivia, but spends most of her time as a paralegal for Colorado Legal Services, working with the homeless and other sectors of Colorado’s poverty-level population.

Deborah Jenkins Teske
Director, Colorado Vocal Arts Ensemble

Deborah Jenkins Teske is founder and artistic director of the Colorado Vocal Arts Ensemble, a chamber choir of 26–30 auditioned voices with a national reputation for excellence in performance and educational outreach. She is Director of Choirs at Colorado College, where she conducts the Colorado College Choir and Chamber Chorus and teaches conducting. Teske has served as guest conductor and clinician for high school level honor choirs, and also as an adjudicator with the Heritage Music Festivals. Her opera and musical theater credits include guest conductor with the Colorado Opera Festival for productions of Puccini’s Madama Butterfly, Mozart’s The Magic Flute, Britten’s The Turn of the Screw, and Handel’s Semele. She serves regularly as Chorus Master for Opera Theatre of the Rockies. Teske holds a Bachelor’s Degree in Music from Pomona College and a Master of Music in Choral Conducting from the University of Colorado at Boulder.

Ralph B. Valentine
Conference Committee
Organist, Daily Choral Matins
Pike’s Peak Tour Leader

Ralph B. Valentine is Organist at St. Andrew’s Episcopal Church in Denver. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Harvard University and a Master of Sacred Music degree from Union Theological Seminary. He was Associate Organist at Church of The Advent, Boston, and Assistant Institute Organist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology from 1962 to 1966. His organ teachers include Duncan Phyfe, John Cook, and Vernon de Tar. He began his teaching career at Rosemary Hall School in Greenwich, Connecticut, and moved with the school to Wallingford, Connecticut, when it merged with The Choate School in 1971. At Choate Rosemary Hall he was Head of Music, Choral Director, School Organist, and Instructor in Theory, Harmony, Counterpoint, History, Composition, Organ, and Harpsichord for forty-two years. A past Dean of the New Haven Chapter of the AGO, Valentine also served as Organist and Choirmaster at St. Andrew’s Episcopal Church in Stamford, St. Andrew’s Episcopal Church in Meriden, and for thirty-four years as the Organist and Choirmaster at St. John’s Episcopal Church in West Hartford, Connecticut. He was appointed as a Schoolteacher Fellow at St. Andrew’s University in Scotland in 1985. He has been active as a recitalist, consultant, workshop leader, accompanist, and composer.

Keith B. Whitmore
AAM Chaplain

The Rt. Rev. Keith B. Whitmore, the former bishop of the Dioecese of Eau Claire, became the Dioecese of Atlanta’s assistant bishop effective April 15, 2008. In August 2012 he was called to an additional ministry as interim director of the Episcopal Studies Program at Candler School of Theology at Emory University. He currently serves on the Church’s Standing Committee on Program, Budget and Finance, and is president of Affirming Anglican Catholicism. He is a trustee for the Berkeley Divinity School at Yale. Whitmore is the chaplain of the Association of Anglican Musicians. He was ordained bishop of Eau Claire in April 10, 1999. He is a Wisconsin native and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and Nashotah House, Nashotah, Wisconsin. He has served congregations in Wisconsin, Missouri, and Kansas, where he was dean of Christ Cathedral, Salina, and is a retired Army chaplain.

Christ Church was begun as a mission of Saint John’s Cathedral in 1952, and within six years had become a self-supporting parish and erected a building. Today the congregation worships in a modern sanctuary completed in 1990. The large nave has simple decor—a high ceiling with lantern roof, tall clear windows, a stone floor, and resonant clear acoustics—creating a peaceful and contemplative environment. It is home to a Martin Ott mechanical-action organ. The organ builder worked with the architect and acoustician from the early planning stages of the project.

Denver Museum of Nature & Science
2001 Colorado Boulevard
Denver, Colorado 80205

Site for Thursday Closing Banquet

Founded in 1900, the Denver Museum of Nature & Science traces its origins back more than a hundred years to one man's efforts and a little log cabin tucked away in the mountains.

In 1868, pioneer and naturalist Edwin Carter arrived in Breckenridge, Colorado and devoted himself to his true love, the birds and mammals of the Rocky Mountains. Carter soon assembled one of the most complete collections of Colorado fauna and displayed his specimens in his log cabin home, dubbed the Carter Museum.

As word spread of the Carter collection, the need became apparent for a larger fireproof building to preserve and display his growing natural history collection. Funds were raised and The Colorado Museum of Natural History (now Denver Museum of Nature & Science) was incorporated on December 6, 1900. The collections were enhanced with crystalline gold specimens from John F. Campion and butterflies and moths from John T. Mason.

A new building in Denver's City Park was completed and opened to the public in July 1908. Over the years the Museum has expanded with the addition of Phipps Auditorium (1940), Gates Planetarium (1968), an IMAX theater (1983), a major 187,000-square-foot addition in 1987, and the Leprino Family Atrium and Anschutz Family Sky Terrace (2002).

Grace and St. Stephen’s Episcopal Church
601 North Tejon Street
Colorado Springs, Colorado 80903

Site for Tuesday Concert by Colorado Vocal Arts Ensemble

Grace and St. Stephen’s Episcopal Church is the mother church of all Episcopal parishes in the city of Colorado Springs. The church is among the largest in the Diocese of Colorado, and is a splendid venue for choral music. Formally organized in 1873 as a parish in the Missionary District of Colorado, under the ecclesiastical authority of the Bishop of Colorado and his successors in office, Grace Episcopal Church was first erected on land donated by the city’s founder, General William Jackson Palmer. Another Episcopal church, St. Stephen’s, was organized about twenty years later and built at the corner of Tejon Street and Monument Avenue (currently the Parish Hall). In 1923 the two parishes merged to become Grace and St. Stephen’s Episcopal Church. The present Late English Gothic church, dedicated in 1929, was designed by E. Donald Robb of the firm Frohman, Robb and Little, one of the firms associated with the building of the National Cathedral. The tower bears much resemblance to the tower of Magdalen College, Oxford, England.

With Alice Bemis Taylor’s gift in 1928 of a magnificent Welte pipe organ and an endowment to provide concerts in memory of her husband, a wealth of musical opportunities became possible. The Taylor Memorial Concert Series is now in its 85th season and the organ is in the midst of a phased restoration.

Saint John’s Cathedral
1350 Washington Street
Denver, Colorado 80203

Site for Sunday Choral Evensong and Monday and Thursday Eucharists

Saint John’s Cathedral, founded in 1860, was named “Saint John’s Church in the Wilderness” due to its remote location in the new Colorado territory. The cornerstone for the current Gothic structure was laid on January 24, 1909, and the first service held within on November 5, 1911. Originally designed to be a much larger structure, the two transepts, choir, and great tower have never been built; the limestone nave was completed with a “temporary” brick chancel. The height of the ceiling in the nave is 65 feet. The Cathedral is 185 feet long and 52 feet wide. In the intervening years it has come to contain much artwork of significance, including Oberammergau carvings, many from the first Cathedral, and stained glass from the Edward Frampton studios of London and the Charles J. Connick studios of Boston.

The Kimball organ, given in memory of Platt Rogers (Mayor of Denver, 1891–1893) by his daughter, Margaret Phipps, was completed in time for Easter of 1938. The instrument’s builder, W. W. Kimball of Chicago, was nationally renowned for responsive, reliable mechanism and suave, colorful tone. It is the largest intact American cathedral organ in use built before World War II still in use, and the largest organ erected before the Kimball Company suspended their organ-building operations at the outbreak of the war. The organ has been played by artists of international fame, including Marcel Dupré, Maurice Duruflé, Flor Peeters and Simon Preston. It was awarded a citation in 1998 as “an instrument of exceptional historic merit, worthy of preservation” by the Organ Historical Society. This award is especially important since many of Kimball’s beautifully-crafted organs built between 1896 and 1942 have been destroyed or neglected beyond repair. In November 2011, Spencer Organ Company of Boston concluded a comprehensive, three-year restoration of the Kimball. The intricate restoration work was done under the direct supervision of company president Joseph Rotella. Paul Jacobs rededicated the instrument and Saint John’s has celebrated the project’s completion with a series of high-profile organ recitals.

St. Andrew’s Episcopal Church
2015 Glenarm Place
Denver, Colorado 80205

Site for Daily Choral Matins

St. Andrew’s, organized in 1874, was the second Episcopal parish in the city of Denver, Colorado. The cornerstone of the current building was laid on Sunday, August 9, 1908. The church was designed by the distinguished Boston architect Ralph Adams Cram, whose later works would include the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York City, and the Cadet Chapel at West Point. The Buzard organ, opus 26, was installed in 2001, with preparation for additional ranks.

St. Paul Lutheran Church
1600 Grant Street
Denver, Colorado 80203

Site for Monday Concert by St. Martin’s Chamber Choir

Saint Paul Lutheran Church, founded in 1884 and located in a vibrant part of downtown Denver, draws its members to worship from across the metropolitan area. At the completion of the present sanctuary in 1926, a pipe organ of seventeen ranks was installed by the M.P. Möller Co. In 1966, the organ was renovated and increased to 26 ranks. The tonal design was done by Paul J. Bunjes. Extensive additions, repairs, and rebuilding were done for St. Paul’s 100th Anniversary Year in 1983. All parts of the organ, including the pipes, were refurbished, and a new console was built to match the oak finish of the original decorative side and back panels, which were included in the new console. A new division, the Great Organ, was placed outside the chambers on either side of the chancel. The large upright bronze pipes are the Festival Trumpet.

Electro-pneumatic action, three manuals, 39 ranks, 2305 pipes

Sheraton Denver Downtown Hotel
I. M. Pei Tower
1550 Court Place
Denver, Colorado 80202

Conference Hotel

This acclaimed modern architectural tower from Pei Cobb Freed & Partners—Architects was part of the original mid-twentieth century project consisting of four buildings called Court House Square. It was the first major development in any American city to combine a hotel, department store, parking, and public space, and it was intended to be Denver’s version of the Rockefeller Center. The plaza (now the site of the hotel’s Plaza building) also featured a skating rink, reflecting pool and mini-golf. The American Institute of Architects recognized the tower with its 1961 National Honor Award.

Characterized as of the International Style, the block-long Tower building is a pioneering venture in precast concrete. The material reflects Pei’s philosophy that a building should come from the earth by incorporating aggregate excavated from the building site. The precast grillwork, made in Salt Lake City, changes pattern to designate changes in the use of the interior spaces.

Ieoh Ming Pei was born in China in 1917. He drew inspiration at an early age from the gardens in his native country. At age 17 he came to the United States to study architecture at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Harvard Graduate School of Design, where he later taught. Among his many award-winning works are the John F. Kennedy Library in Boston, the East Wing of the National Gallery of Art in Washington, the Meyerson Symphony Center in Dallas, and the famous Louvre Pyramid entrance in Paris. He is considered a master of modern architecture.
United States Air Force Academy
Cadet Chapel
Site for Tuesday Organ Recital and Noonday Prayer

The United States Air Force Academy Cadet Chapel is the most popular man-made attraction in Colorado, with more than a half million visitors every year. Groundbreaking began on the iconic landmark August 28, 1959, and it was completed in 1963. The Cadet Chapel’s principal designer and architect was Walter A. Netsch, Jr. of the firm Skidmore, Owings, and Merrill.

The most striking aspect of the Chapel is its row of seventeen spires. The structure is a tubular steel frame of 100 identical tetrahedrons, each 75 feet long, weighing five tons, and enclosed with clear aluminum panels. The Cadet Chapel itself is 150 feet high, 280 feet long, and 84 feet wide. The south front façade has a wide granite stairway with steel railings capped by aluminum handrails leading up one story to a landing. The shell of the chapel and surrounding grounds cost $3.5 million to build. Various furnishings, pipe organs, liturgical fittings and adornments of the chapel were presented as gifts from various individuals and organizations. In 1959, a designated Easter offering was also taken at Air Force bases around the world to help complete the interior.

The Cadet Chapel was designed specifically to house three distinct worship areas under a single roof. Inspired by chapels at Sainte-Chapelle in France and the Basilica of San Francesco d’Assisi in Italy, architect Walter Netsch stacked the spaces on two main levels. The Protestant nave is located on the upper level, while the Catholic and Jewish chapels and a Buddhist room are located beneath it. Each chapel has its own entrance, and services may be held simultaneously without interfering with one another.

The Protestant Chapel
The Protestant Chapel is located on the main floor, and is designed to seat 1,200 individuals. The nave measures 64 by 168 feet, reaching up to 94 feet at the highest peak. The Chapel’s tetrahedrons form the walls and the pinnacled ceiling of the Protestant Chapel. Stained glass windows create ribbons of color between the tetrahedrons, and progress from darker to lighter as they reach the altar. The chancel is set off by a crescent-shaped, varicolored reredos behind the altar. Semi-precious stones from Colorado and pietra santa marble from Italy cover its 1,260-square-foot area. The focal point of the chancel is a 46-foot high aluminum cross suspended above it. The pews are made of American walnut and African mahogany. The ends of the pews were sculpted to resemble World War I airplane propellers. The backs of the pews are capped by a strip of aluminum similar to the trailing edge of a fighter aircraft wing. Above the narthex, in the rear, is a choir balcony and organ, designed by Walter Holtkamp of the Holtkamp Organ Company, and built by M. P. Möller of Hagerstown, Maryland.
The Catholic Chapel

The Catholic Chapel is located below the Protestant Chapel, and seats approximately 500 people. The nave is 56 feet wide, 113 feet long and 19 feet high. The focal point of the Catholic Chapel is the reredos behind the altar. An abstract glass mosaic mural, designed by Lumen Martin Winter, the reredos is composed of varying shades of blue, turquoise, rose and gray tessera to form a portrayal of the firmament. Superimposed on the mural and depicting the Annunciation are two 10-foot tall marble figures, the Virgin Mary on the left, and the Archangel Gabriel on the right. Above and between these two figures is a marble dove.

In front of the reredos is the altar, a gift from Cardinal Francis Spellman, who dedicated the Catholic Chapel on September 22, 1963. The altar is Italian white marble mounted on a marble cone-shaped pedestal. Above the altar is a six-foot sculptured nickel-silver crucifix. Along the side walls of the chapel are the fourteen Stations of the Cross, also designed by Lumen Martin Winter, and carved from four-inch thick slabs of marble. The figures are done in Carrara marble from the same quarries where Michelangelo drew his stone. The classical pipe organ, in the 100-seat choir loft, was designed by Walter Holtkamp and built by M. P. Moller Co. It features 36 ranks and 29 stops controlling its 1,950 pipes.

The Jewish Chapel

The Jewish Chapel is also on the lower level. Seating 100, it is circular in shape, with a diameter of 42 feet and a height of 19 feet. It is enclosed by a vertical grill with inserts of clear glass opening to the foyer. The circular form and transparent walls were used to suggest a tent-like structure. The floor is paved with Jerusalem brownstone, donated by the Israeli Defense Forces.

The walls of the foyer are purple stained glass panels alternating with green and blue stained accent windows. The circular walls of the synagogue are panels of translucent glass separated by stanchions of Israeli cypress. The paintings, done by Schlomo Katz in 1985 and 1986, depict a Biblical story. They are divided into three groups; brotherhood, flight (in honor of the Air Force) and justice.

The focal point of the Jewish Chapel is the Aron Kodesh, which shelters the Scrolls of the Torah. The Ner Tamid hangs to the right of the Ark. In the foyer of the chapel is a display cabinet with a Torah Scroll that was saved from the Nazis during World War II. It was found in Poland in 1989 in an abandoned warehouse and donated to the Jewish Chapel in April 1990. This “Holocaust Torah” is dedicated to the memory of all of those who fought against the Nazis.

The Buddhist Chapel

The Buddhist Chapel (Vast Refuge Dharma Hall) is 300 square feet and was designed and built by Ed Shure. Donated in 2007, the Dharma Hall was built freestanding within the existing structure. It is made of Port Orford cedar, a rare, fragrant wood used for temple building in Japan. Its simply-proportioned design welcomes Buddhists of all denominations as well as guests.

The altar and alcove are constructed of American Cherry and Ash and were designed and built by Takayuki Kida, a traditionally-trained Japanese woodworker. The Buddha figure on the altar is Burmese, and the large lion-topped censer is from China. The figure of Avalokiteshvara, known as the one who hears the sounds of the world’s suffering, stands near the entry. The arrangement of the altar focuses on the Buddha figure, representing not only gratitude to the historical Shakyamuni Buddha (Siddhartha Gautama, born approximately 556 BCE) but also the possibility of awakening, or enlightenment. The altar also offers appreciation for the four elements of life: earth, air, fire, and water.

Manual divisions are divided into two levels—Upper and Lower; the Pedal division has three levels—Upper, Lower, and Base. The Trompetas are on a separate chest at the top of the organ. The 32’ Contra Bombarde is on separate divided C and C# chests in the façade. Some manual reed stops have doubled flue pipes for the top octave or octaves.

Site for Wednesday Concert by The Denver Brass and Joseph Galema

The 180,000 square-foot Robert and Judi Newman Center for the Performing Arts anchors the south end of the University of Denver campus and houses both Virginia E. Trevorrow Hall on the north, home to the Lamont School of Music, as well as a concert/grand opera hall, Hamilton Recital Hall, and a flexible theatre on the south. The enclosed Joy Burns Plaza joins the two components of the center.

Housing technologically-sophisticated studios for teaching, rehearsing, and practicing, the building also contains a music library with keyboard/computer lab, a recording studio, small performance spaces, spacious practice rooms, “smart-to-the-seat” classrooms, and acoustically adjustable rehearsal spaces.

The Frederic C. Hamilton Family Recital Hall is a 240-seat hall that hosts more than 150 annual recitals for the Lamont School of Music as well as convocations, master classes and chamber concerts. A freestanding organ by Karl Schuke, Berliner Orgelbau, installed and dedicated in 2003, is housed in this hall, as well as specialized rigging, lighting, and sound equipment.

Lamont School of Music

Joseph Galema, DMA

Organ Instructor

Joseph Galema is currently Music Director and Academy Organist at the United States Air Force Academy, a position he has held since September 1982. Galema also joined the Lamont School of Music of the University of Denver in September 2008 as Organ Instructor.

He received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Calvin College in Grand Rapids, Michigan. At The University of Michigan, while studying under the renowned artist-teacher Marilyn Mason, he pursued post-graduate work in organ performance by completing requirements for Master of Music and Doctor of Musical Arts degrees.

As a featured organ soloist, Galema has toured throughout the United States, England, France, Scandinavia, and the Baltic States.
